

A sad day for Wilmington

Adults in fisticuffs at football practice

By JAMIE POTE

WILMINGTON - An ordinary Pop Warner Football practice has turned the town of Wilmington into a media circus.

On Friday night a physical altercation between two Wilmington residents - a coach and a parent - has been the focus of national and local news, and has resulted in a criminal court case scheduled for November 17.

According to Wilmington Police Department reports, Michael VonKahle, 48, of Winchell Road, and his 12-year-old son arrived at the Pop Warner C team's practice a few minutes late, at approximately 5:10 p.m. VonKahle reportedly told the team's coaching staff that their tardiness was his fault - not his son's. Reynolds ordered VonKahle's son to run laps.

VonKahle voiced his displeasure by reportedly telling Reynolds, "If anybody needs to run laps, it should be you - you fat (expletive)."

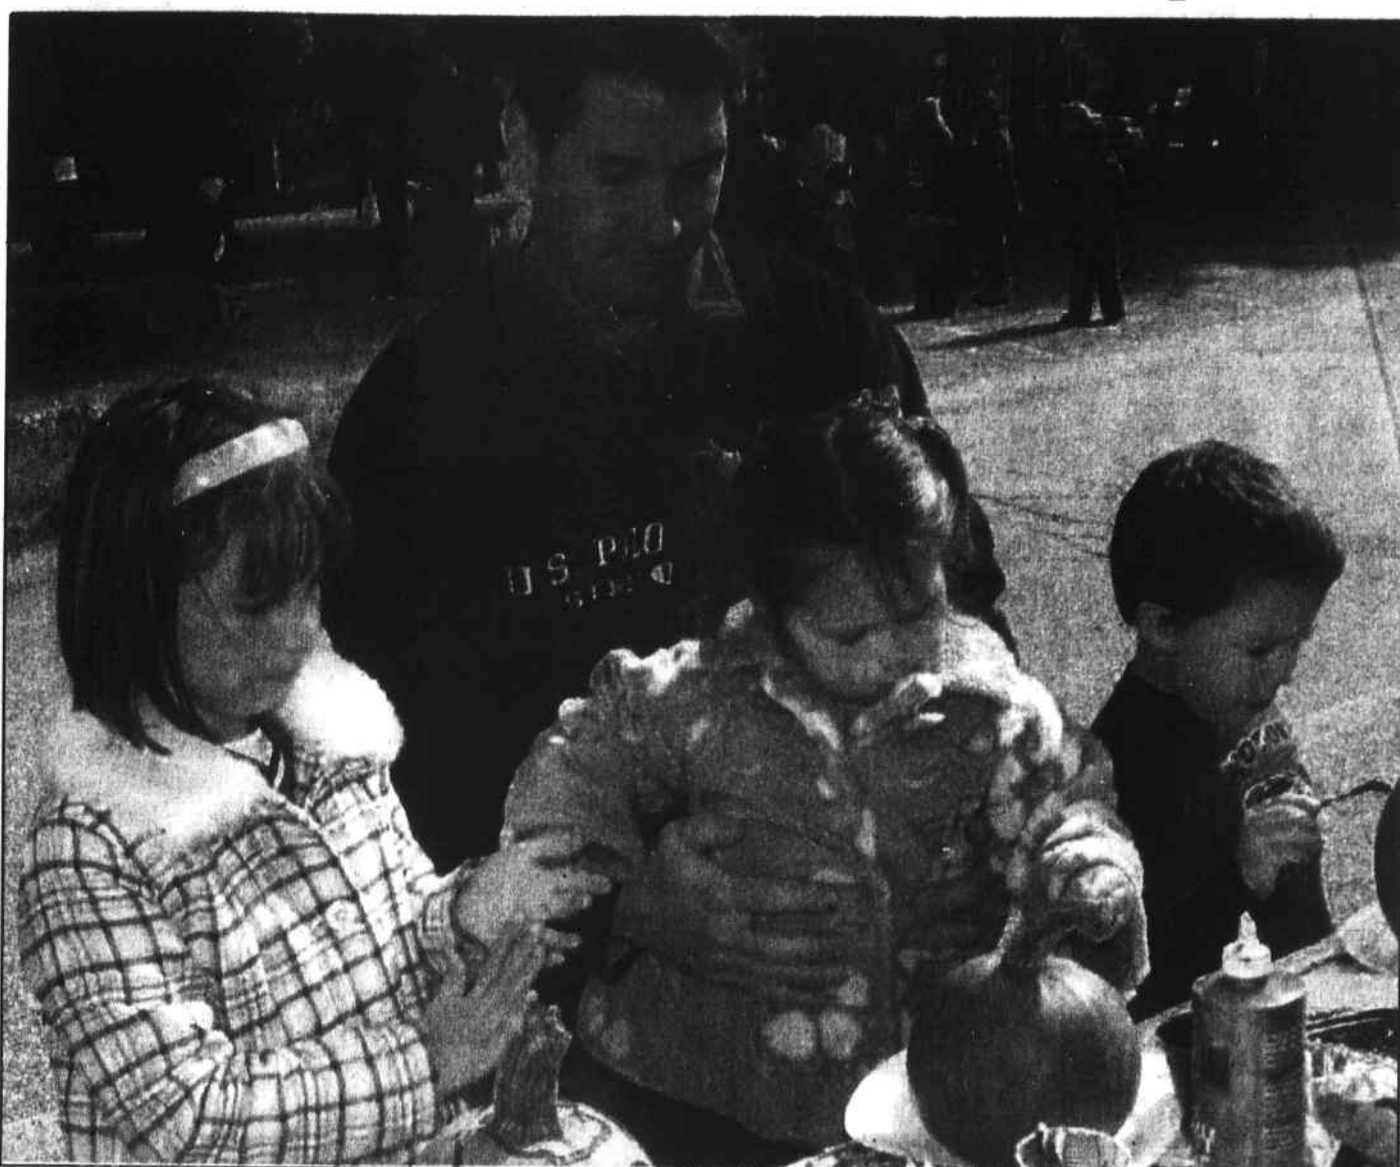

Reynolds' and VonKahle's stories vary from that point on. But police have determined that the two of them left the practice field area together about ten minutes after the verbal exchange. At approximately 5:40 p.m., the two of them walked behind the snack shack of the Robert Palmer Field at Wilmington's Town Hall, where a physical altercation ensued.

VonKahle sustained injuries in that altercation, including a broken eye socket, a broken nose, a concussion and a torn left rotator cuff, according to police reports. Reynolds left the altercation without any reported injuries, but, according to court documents, he had blood on his right hand.

Wilmington Police Chief Mike Begonis spoke to reporters outside the Wilmington Public Safety Building late Monday morning. He stated that a summons for a felony charge of a simple assault and battery with serious bodily injury was issued to Reynolds. A simple

Clean-up of Olin still years away

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) hosted an informational session for Wilmington residents on Monday night in regard to the Olin Superfund Site. The message to residents was that there is still studies and research to be done before a clean-up of the property can be initiated.

The EPA designated the Olin property, located at 51 Eames Street, as a Superfund site in 2005. Subsequently, a Remedial Investigation/Feasibility Study (RI/FS) Work Plan was developed by the Olin Corporation, and approved by EPA. The EPA has main-

Bear sighted in Tewksbury

Right near Wilmington border

By JAYNE W. MILLER

TEWKSBURY - A day before last Sunday's nor'easter, one bear was looking for a few good meals before turning in for the winter. A lone black bear - weighing a couple hundred pounds, according to eyewitnesses - roamed Tewksbury's streets over the weekend.

Police received their first report of a bear sighting at 1:30 a.m. on Saturday morning from a motorist who saw the animal cross East Street and continue along behind the homes of Jill's Way. Later than morning police received another call saying the bear was in the Coolidge and Heath Street area, a dis-stance of about 4.5 miles.

At 9:06 a.m. Tewksbury Police and Billerica Police advised Wilmington Police that the bear was sighted in the vicinity of Whipple Road and Brown Street, which is nearby Nichols Street in Wilmington.

Police sent two officers to

Bank robbery in Tewksbury

Suspect still at large

By JAYNE W. MILLER

TEWKSBURY - Police are asking for help identifying a man who robbed the Lowell 5 Bank Monday morning.

Tewksbury Police were called to the Stadium Plaza bank at 10:45 a.m. for a robbery in progress. A white male suspect wearing a black sweatshirt, gray sweatpants, a mask over his face and carrying a black briefcase demanded money from three different bank tellers, obtaining money from all three, before leaving. No weapons were shown during the robbery and all money demands were made verbally.

The suspect was last seen on foot heading toward Clark Road. Police describe the suspect as being approximately 25 to 30 years old and having brown hair.

Tewksbury Police Administrative

Superintendent John Voto told the Crier that police have several leads and the matter is still under investigation. Police believe the suspect has committed other robberies in surrounding towns.

Anyone with information is asked to please contact Tewksbury Police at 978-851-7373 extensions 239 or 225 or send an email to Tewksbury pd@tewksbury-ma.gov.

Flue mist vaccination clinic

WILMINGTON - On October 31, from 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. at the Wilmington Town Hall, the Wilmington Board of Health will be holding a Seasonal Flu vaccination clinic utilizing the Flu Mist vaccine. The Flu Mist vaccine is live attenuated influenza vaccine (LAIV). Flu Mist is the nasal spray seasonal flu vaccine and is very effective for healthy people 2-49 years of age who are not pregnant. Unlike the flu shot, the nasal spray flu vaccine contains live viruses. However, the viruses are attenuated (weakened) and cannot cause flu illness. In children, side effects can include runny nose, headache, muscle aches and fever. In adults, side effects can include runny nose, headache, sore throat and fever. Remember, side effects are rare and are mild, short lasting, especially when compared to symptoms of influenza infection. If you

Two Sisters getting ready to save the life of a third

By JAYNE W. MILLER

TEWKSBURY and WILMINGTON - Lisa Powers and Leah Wareham are sisters and they are about to give their other sister, Christa, the gift of life. Christa, 41, needs a kidney transplant and Lisa and Leah are both matches. As the date quickly approaches for the surgeries needed to save their sister's life, these ladies are ready for anything and recently hosted a major fundraiser benefit in their sister's honor.

Over the course of the last year, Christa Coombs kidney disease has progressed to the point of needing a transplant very soon. A type I diabetic (juvenile diabetes), complications from the disease over the last year have brought Coombs to this point.

Coombs cannot currently work due to health complications and has mounting medical bills just from the items health insurance does not cover. Like most transplant recipients, Coombs will have to take four medications that each cost $50 per month. The proceeds from the fundraiser will help to defray her costs. The community really stepped up to help make the fundraiser successful, featuring bagpipes, belly dancing, and some delightful food.

It's Your Money

by Joyce Brisbois

END-OF-YEAR TAX PLANNING

It's not too soon to start straightening out your tax picture for the year. Check your investment portfolio, your flexible spending account and any other opportunities at work, and contributions.

Do you have any losses among your investments this year, or any capital loss carryforwards from previous years? See if you can match them to any gains that you then could take tax-free. If you've taken gains, look for losses to offset them.

Make sure you've used funds remaining in your FSA, or you'll lose them. Check company mail: are there new medical plans that can save you money? Put the maximum into your retirement plan?

This year, seniors over 70 1/2 can make contributions directly from an IRA. They're not deductible, but better yet, those distributions are free of income tax. Pay deductible expenses - charitable contributions, doctor bills, etc. - by credit card if you're low on cash so they're deductible for this year.

Tax planning is our specialty. Let us help you at (WERC) and its consultant Cambridge Environmental.

EPA Project Manager Jim DiLorenzo advised residents that the Superfund process is typically slow, and that the Olin site is even more complicated than a typical superfund site. He estimated it to be two or three more years before selecting appropriate remediation methods.

"WERC understands that the slow pace is very frustrating to the public, but we are glad that the EPA is requiring additional, very rigorous site assessment," said Kathy Barry, President of WERC. "We are eager to review new data as it becomes available, and hope to work more closely with residents going forward to help them understand both the Superfund process and the specific results of the on-going field work."

WERC is a citizen group formed shortly after the EPA assumed oversight of the Olin property. For more information, visit www.Wilmingtonerc.org.

Work done by EPA's efforts in regard to Olin thus far has been primarily focused on reviewing more than two decades worth of assessments and studies conducted by Olin and the Mass Department of Environmental Protection. Upcoming work will focus on additional sampling of off-property locations, including south and east of the property into North Woburn and into the Maple Meadow aquifer and watershed.

In addition to expanding the geographic area to be tested, the EPA is also expanding the number of chemicals and compounds to test for.

"These periodic updates from EPA are a valuable way for the public to stay informed about the complex issues related to the Olin site," Board of Selectman Chairman Michael Newhouse told the Crier. Newhouse facilitated Monday's meeting. "Public participation will continue to be a priority for the Town, while our technical consultants and department heads continue to work with EPA to review and assess all of the data submitted on behalf of the responsible parties."

"Given the rather unique geological, topographical and scientific complexities associated with this site, the Town will continue to tackle this problem for many years to come. In the end, though, it is more important to do the job right than to do it fast."

Chemical manufacturing began in 1953 at the Olin property, located at 51 Eames Street in Wilmington. The facility produced specialized chemicals for the rubber and plastics industry including, blowing agents, stabilizers, antioxidants. The facility was shuttered for good in 1986. Prior to 1970, chemicals were discharged into several unlined central pits and ponds in the property.

The sisters grew up in Burlington and that's where Christa stayed. Lisa, 43, moved to Tewksbury nine years ago and is the mother of two school aged boys. She's been married 13 years. Leah, 38, and her family have been residents of Wilmington for the last ten years. She has two school aged daughters.

Turns out a transplanted kidney does not come with a lifetime guarantee and often the transplant recipient will need another transplant years down the road. So Lisa is taking the first round and Leah plans to donate one of her kidneys to her sister should another transplant be needed years from now.

There are multiple aspects in deciding who will make the donation including health of the donor, financial health, and more.

The sisters' family and friends have been tremendously supportive, with more than 300 turning out for the fundraiser Saturday night. Still, they get some unexpected comments from time to time. Their mother was recently asked how she could let her healthy daughter give a kidney to her sick daughter.

"Mom said, if she doesn't do it, my daughter will die," said Lisa in a conversation with the Crier this week. "I'm not going to not give her the kidney because I'm afraid, and then just sit there and hold her hand and watch her die. You can live a full life on one kidney."

In today's world, kidney transplants are typically not the surgical undertaking they once were. The sisters are working with Center's Transplant Institute and Powers has spent many hours since the summer taking the myriad tests needed before going forward, including chest x-rays, nearly 20 vials of blood drawn, EKGs, and even a visit with a psychologist.

The surgery is planned for early 2010, after the winter holidays.

"We wanted to bypass the holidays and get into the New Year and have 2010 get off to a good start," said Powers.

During the kidney transplant the donor organ will be taken out laparoscopically and then taken to a neighboring operating theater for the transplant. The doctors will not remove the old kidney(s) however.

Powers added that she worked social networking site Facebook to organize the event last weekend. Through the online application, Lisa was able to touch base with many people she hasn't seen in twenty years, and the news went viral, forwarded from person to person.

"More people showed up than we thought," said Powers. "We were worried at first that we wouldn't have enough food."

The Kevin Barry Pipes and Drums Band from the Malden Irish American club performed at the benefit. Lisa LaFontaine from Tattoo Fever in Pelham, NH performed a belly dance and generously donated the proceeds. Music was provided by Double Dee-Jay Entertainment and "definitely entertained the crowd with their Elvis and Blues Brothers impersonations," said Powers.

Tewksbury Wynn Middle School Students Katie Elwell and Nena Giandomenico were praised by Powers and other benefit attendees for their signature "Kids for Christa" brand of cupcakes and lollipops which they sold at the event and raised $90 for Christa's benefit.

The family also thanked Jerry and Denise Vinal of Wilmington for the delicious catering, the Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks for donating the use of the hall, and all the people that contributed to making the night "a great success."

Bear sighted in Tewksbury

the scene who saw the bear and estimated it at about 6-feet long and weighing more than two hundred pounds. Police have nicknamed the bear "Eric," though officials did not indicate the reason for the name. Police did say that they are sure that the bear sighted near East Street and the bear sighted down by Heath Street are the same bear.

Environmental Police were called to the scene but were unable to capture the animal. Officials told the Crier that the bear is still on the loose.

According to a MassWildlife publication, the bear population in Massachusetts has been on the rise over the last thirty years, though rarely are they found in eastern counties of the state. Black bears have good eyesight, hearing and an acute sense of smell, which they use to locate food and recognize potential danger. Bears are also excellent climbers and often use trees for resting, as escape cover, and to protect their young. Male bears in Massachusetts average 230 pounds, while females average 140 pounds.

Mass Wildlife advises homeowners and businesses that most bears' first response to something unusual is to flee. Thus, if a bear is in the yard or a dumpster or even on a porch, one should "run out at it, yell and make lots of noise. The bear will leave - accompanied by its young."

Bears are omnivores though most of their diet is vegetative matter. In the autumn, bears tend to prefer cornfields and nut trees like oak and beech. They like to visit bird feeders, cornfields, orchards, and beehives and with their sharp memories, will remember a food source for years. While adult females tend to roam nine to 10 square miles, males have ranges of more than 120-square miles, according to Mass Wildlife. Bears typically enter their dens between mid-November and early December and exit between March and mid-April.

To prevent bear interest in your yard altogether, Mass Wildlife advises never feed bears, take down birdfeeders before April 1 and put them back up in late November or early December, never leave pet food outside, secure trash in closed containers inside a garage or other outbuilding and put the barrels out in the morning rather than the night before pickup.

Letters to the editor

Angry Pop Warner mom

Dear Editor,
I would just like to say how sick to my stomach I am. I was born and raised in the town of Wilmington. My roots in town go as far back as Grandfather riding his bike with a cart on the back down the (dirt road) of Boutwell St. selling veggies and fruit for his family. WOW!!!! How time has changed.
My son plays on Pop Warner and never, never, never would we embarrass our son like that. We are supposed to support and encourage our children. My husband and four-year old son were there at that practice. My four-year old plays on the swings, right by the woods that the parent invited the coach into. Do you think I would want my son to see that? Or to think just because Bill has a title of a coach it's okay to go to the press and embarrass our town? Instead of thinking you are a tough guy, maybe you should have run the laps with your son. The coaches are there to help our children, they volunteer. What an embarrassment to our town to see the 11:00 O'clock news last night. Our support is with you Coach Reynolds!!!!

A night of laughs

Dear Editor,
I would like to say a BIG 'Thank-you' to our host Steve Bjork and everyone who came out to support Wilmington Youth Hockey on Friday, October 9th for our comedy show/fund raiser.
The night was a success and I know I speak for everyone by saying the night was filled with lots of fun & laughs from very funny comedians. We would especially like to thank Jimmy Dunn for stepping in for Kevin Knox, who was unable to be there. Jimmy was also very generous and donated his earnings for the night to Kevin Knox, who is very ill.

I would also like to thank the following people and businesses that donated items for our raffle: Market Basket, Elia's Country Store, Cooke's Skate Supply, Moynihan Lumber, Custom Stitch, RMA Fitness, Sheryl Elliot, Jimmy & Teresa Castellano, J & N Lawn Care, The Boston Bruins, Bob Rotundo, VeinSolutions, & Modern Image. Thank you to Janice Gennetti & Lisa Sullivan in helping me put the show together.

Both should be ashamed

Dear Editor,
On October 19, "Police investigate ball field violence; Father hurt after spat with coach" appeared below the fold on the front page of the Boston Globe. How embarrassing. The father and the coach are both accountable and they should both be ashamed of themselves. Mr. VonKahle should not have resorted to childish name-calling and Mr. Reynolds should not have reacted. Restraint!

Both men are old enough to know better. Using this story as a measuring stick, neither seems to be capable of teaching sportsmanship. They have set a terrible example for the boys on the team. Mr. VonKahle should not be allowed to attend another Pop Warner game this season and Mr. Reynolds should be suspended from coaching permanently.

Sincerely,
Dawn Reidy

Get the U.S. out of the U.N.

Dear Editor,
I never thought I would say this, however I would like to thank our local politicians - those who voted "no" to U.N. Day.
The U.N. has been a demented Anti-American entity for some time - even though we are their largest contributor.

I hope America will some day follow suit and "Get the US out of the UN!"

It was a great pumpkin fair

Dear Editor,
On behalf of the Northside Elementary PAC, I would like to thank everyone who contributed to making our 32nd Annual Pumpkin Fair a success. We are so lucky to live in such a giving, thoughtful community.

A special thank you to the following: Michael McCoy, Lucci's Market, Piantadosi Bread, Utz Potato Chips, Pepsi, Rocco's, Pizza Mia, Michaels Place, Wilmington House of Pizza, the high school students who gave so much of their Saturday to staffing our tables, teachers and staff of the Woburn Street School who gave up time to serve lunch, the Custodial staff who helped us Friday night and who were there Saturday to make sure our event went smoothly and that the building was as clean as it could be, the Public Buildings department for bringing us tables to use and for laying the tarp down in the gym, the Wilmington Sons of Italy for their cash donation and for the use of their ice cream freezer.

Thank you to all of the businesses that donated to our raffle table. The raffle table was again a huge success and all of the winners were thrilled with their prizes.

Thank you to the parents and children who came on Saturday. There were many activities for the children and everyone seemed to have a great time.

A huge thank you to all of the parents who volunteered their time before, during and after the event. Without the time and energy you put into the Pumpkin Fair, this event could not take place. I know all of us are very busy - especially at this time of year - and we really appreciate you giving up so many hours of your day.

Thank you again to everyone that was involved in the 32nd Annual Woburn Street School Pumpkin Fair.

Sincerely,
Gail M. O'Shea

What's Cooking?

by Paula Murphy

'Anonymous' sent me two recipes this week for big, beefy, comfort food. The braciolo recipe is a lot like mine, and one of my go-to favorites. Laurie Gullotto gives us her solution to left-over Halloween candy. Please keep your recipes and stories coming - send them to paula.wilmingtoncooks@hotmail.com.

Beef Braciolo

1½ pounds skirt or flank steak, or butterflied top-of-the-round steak
¼ pound thinly sliced imported boiled ham
2 garlic cloves, minced
1 cup seasoned bread crumbs moistened with a little olive oil
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
¼ cup fresh parsley, chopped salt
pepper
dash of dried basil
dash of red pepper flakes
1 28 ounce can crushed

tomatoes
½ cup olive oil
Flatten meat to ½ inch thickness. Mix bread crumbs, Parmesan, garlic, parsley, salt, and pepper, and cover the steak with the mixture. Place ham slices scantily on top. Roll up the steak like a jellyroll, and tie with string or close with toothpicks.

Heat oil in your largest skillet, and brown meat on all sides. Add in the can of tomatoes, salt, pepper, basil, and red pepper flakes. Cover, leaving slightly ajar, and simmer for 1½ hours or until very tender. Remove string or toothpicks, slice the meat, and arrange on a large serving platter with sauce poured over. Serve with mashed potatoes or pasta.

Steak Pizzaiola

2 pounds sirloin steak, cut into serving-sized pieces
4 cloves garlic, minced
1 cup fresh mushrooms, sliced

salt
pepper
dash of red pepper flakes
1 teaspoon dried oregano
1 28-ounce can crushed tomatoes
½ cup red wine
3-4 tablespoons olive oil
Heat 3 tablespoons oil over medium-high heat. Season steak with salt and pepper, and brown quickly in hot oil, about four minutes each side. Remove steak, lower heat to medium, add another tablespoon of oil to the pan if necessary, and add in mushrooms and red pepper flakes. Cook until mushrooms are slightly softened, and add in garlic until golden. Add in wine, stirring and scraping up any bits on the bottom of the pan. Add in tomatoes, oregano, salt, and pepper; simmer 20 minutes until sauce comes together, then slide steaks back into pan. Cover, leaving slightly ajar, and simmer until meat is tender, about 10 more minutes. If you use a less tender cut of meat, simmer longer until tender. Serve with mashed potatoes or pasta.

1 cup sugar
½ cup brown sugar
2 eggs

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cream together sugars, butter, and shortening. Add in eggs and vanilla. Mix dry ingredients (except candy) separately, and add to sugar mixture. Stir in candy. Drop by tablespoon full onto an ungreased cookie sheet, and bake for 10-12 minutes.

Letters to the editor

Recommendation for Marchese

Dear Editor:
In response to last week's letter to the editor by Mr. DiPasquale, I am pleased to learn that after many years of neglect and apathy the Wilmington Republican Town Committee (WRTC) is in the process of formally being reorganized. I have been a registered Republican voter in the Town of Wilmington since 1977 and cannot recall ever having been contacted by the WRTC. In fact, during the early to mid 1990's I actually sought out participation in the WRTC through telephone messages and at least one written inquiry, but never received a response. Now that Mr. Marchese has declared his candidacy for State Representative, I find it interesting that he is apparently leading the self-serving reorganization effort described by Mr. DiPasquale.

Wilmington is very fortunate in that we currently have a strong and effective conservative State Representative. It is my suggestion that rather than running for the State Representative seat in 2010 for his own political gratification, Mr. Marchese could better serve the conservative citizenry of Wilmington by continuing his efforts at revitalizing the WRTC and supporting the election of Scott Brown to fill Ted Kennedy's senate seat, Charlie Baker and/or Christy Mihos for Governor and Bill Hudak, for the 6th Congressional district seat during the 2010 election.

I volunteered for the political campaigns of former Republican Congressman Peter Torkildsen during 1992 and 1994 as well as Republican Congressional candidates Rick Barton in 2006 and Rich Baker in 2008. I don't remember seeing the involvement of either the WRTC or Mr. Marchese at any of the rallies held in support of Rick Barton. I also don't remember seeing anyone other than myself holding a sign for either Rick Barton or Rich Baker on Election Day. Additionally, I have not seen the WRTC or Mr. Marchese at any of the rallies organized this year by Bill Hudak (www.billhudakforcongress.com). In case Mr. DiPasquale and Mr. Marchese were not aware (because I did not see them in attendance), Congressmen John Tierney held two public meetings over the Columbus Day weekend. As our current Congressman, John Tierney is in a position to cause significantly more harm to our prosperity as Americans through his votes in Congress than anything positive a freshmen State Representative of the minority party could do in the Massachusetts State House. I agree with Mr. DiPasquale that timing is everything. However, now is not the time for Wilmington to have a new State Representative.

Sincerely,
George Lingenfelter

Windsor Place of Wilmington marks Grand Opening with ribbon cutting ceremony

WILMINGTON - Windsor Place of Wilmington, a premier assisted living residence for seniors, held its ribbon cutting ceremony to mark its grand opening. Attendees included owners/partners, family members, Wilmington town officials, new residents, and employees.

Windsor Place has 87 distinctive luxury suites. Some of the apartments are designated for individuals with memory impairment due to Alzheimer's disease and related disorders. Windsor Place is located at 92 West Street, and on the same campus as Woodbriar Rehabilitation and Skilled Nursing Center.

"Windsor Place was built with the needs and desires of today's discerning retirees in mind. Retiring well begins with living each day well. The social, cultural, and educational activities of Windsor Place will provide our residents with many options to pursue their passions and enjoy life," said Dennis Sargent, developer and executive director of Windsor Place. "An attentive, discreet staff will provide a comfortable and gracious lifestyle for seniors who no longer want the responsibility of maintaining a house or who may need help from time to time."

A U.S. Census Bureau report released in June 2009

forecasts a 40 percent increase in the senior population in the United States over the next five years as nearly 15 million baby boomers aged 60-64 reach retirement age. In the northeast, people 65 and over comprise 13.7 percent of the population. Wan He, a demographer in the Census Bureau Population Division, told Senior Journal2 in June that "this shift in the age structure of the world's population poses challenges to society, families, businesses, health care providers and policymakers to meet the needs of aging individuals."

"I chose to live at Windsor Place of Wilmington to be close to my husband who resides next door at Woodbriar," said Joyce Duff. "I want to see him as much as possible while also getting the help I need," continued Duff. "Windsor Place is absolutely beautiful and offers so many modern conveniences that will make my life so much easier."

Windsor Place offers a continuum of care to residents. In addition to assisted living apartments where several levels of housekeeping, personal care and medication management services are available, Windsor Place offers specialized, comprehensive help for residents with advanced needs. Suites at The Carlyle at Windsor Place have enhanced features and programs designed for residents with memory impairment resulting from Alzheimers' and related disorders. Rehabilitation and skilled nursing care is also available nearby at Woodbriar of Wilmington. Woodbriar is operated by the Paino family and Dennis and Elissa Sargent, the same family that developed and manages Windsor Place.

Windsor Place boasts an elegant interior and creative landscape design with three outdoor courtyards. Classic color palettes with rich details, including dramatic columns and fireplaces, are the hallmark of the common areas. Individual residences are offered in a variety of comfortable floor plans to accommodate individual tastes and personal furnishings. Manicured gardens and accessible footpaths offer options for outdoor living and socializing. State-of-the-art technology ensures that personal assistance is available around the clock. The result is a refined, accommodating and secure community.

Windsor Place has an inviting multi-media room and wireless internet access to satisfy the entertainment and communications requirements of 21st century seniors. A richly appointed library, stylish living room, country kitchen, fitness area, beauty salon, and a cocktail lounge are among its amenities. A talented culinary team serves imaginative and nutritious meals in the elegant main dining room.

"I would never have considered assisted living of any kind had it not been for the experienced care, friendship, and emotional support that the staff at Woodbriar provided to me and my ailing wife," said Geno James. "When I visited Windsor Place it just felt like home to me and I knew that I would be surrounded by the same kind of dedicated staff and familiar management that I got to know through my daily visits to Woodbriar," added James. "Now, I just can't wait to leave all the maintenance responsibilities at my eight-room house and experience the benefits of easier living in a community-oriented setting."

Windsor Place is owned by the Paino family and Dennis and Elissa Sargent, long-standing members of the Greater Boston business community with deep ties to the regional medical community. The Sargents have managed Woodbriar Rehabilitation & Skilled Nursing Center since 1993. Visit Windsor Place of Wilmington online at www.windsorplaceofwilmington.com.

Your Two Cents...

To the homeowners having yard sales on South Street and Moonlight Drive last weekend, thanks so much for leaving your signs up on the telephone pole in my yard. Once the rain and wind came, your signs became litter on my lawn, and yet you never came back to clean up after yourself. For anyone having a yard sale, please do homeowners the courtesy of retrieving your signs that eventually becomes our trash.

Tewksbury

I hope that whoever is complaining here about the potential of a Sonic restaurant coming to town realizes that the town can do very little to stop it. As long as it is located in a properly zoned area, the property owner has a right to put in anything that conforms. It is the market place, not the town, that will determine whether Sonic does or does not move into that spot.

Wilmington

Thumbs up to the Wilmington Health Dept and Wilmington Public Schools for being proactive and offering an early flu vaccination clinic to the children in our public schools. As a parent of two school-age children who participated in the program along with many other children, I'd like to say thank you!

In response to Fairy Wings Snapped by Mailman: If you had called the post office or talked to your mailman after your first complaint, which is unacceptable for any carrier to hang a parcel on a mailbox, you would not have had your 2nd and 3rd complaint, and could have saved the fatal snap of the fairy wings.

Please don't be afraid to talk to your mail carrier with any complaints you have concerning your mail delivery, we strive for customer satisfaction. We as carriers are not afraid to talk to our supervisors or customers when mailboxes are blocked with vehicles, when trash barrels are piled around mailboxes blocking access for delivery, balloon string tied around handle (so we can't open it), when landscapers block the mailbox with their equipment, and MOST OF ALL NEGLECT TO SHOVEL OUT THE MAILBOX! But please don't worry your mail will be delivered.

Kudos to the Board of Selectmen for not signing that piece of garbage United Nations citation. It's nice to see that some elected officials actually read an item before they sign it. Well done men!

Wilmington

Actually the school bus situation has not been resolved. My kindergarten child still doesn't get home from the Wildwood till 3pm. School ends at 2pm. It's only a five minute drive. Why don't I pick him up? Because I have two other children and stress out that I won't be back in time for their bus. I waited for the situation to "work itself out." Not only has it not been resolved, but I've been told that two additional stops have been added to the route that is already too long for a 5 year old.

Wilmington

Let's see here, a $100 MIL high school for Wilmington OR, Try to keep my job, my house, feed my family, pay the bills, and basically try to survive the depression we are in..... I'll have to PASS on the school. Next up?, a letter to the editor. See you there.

Wilmington

All the kids are going to have to teach parents about the fun in sports. It's a sad story.

Wilmington

In my neighborhood there is a 15-year-old high school boy and a 5-year-old kindergarten boy. Both get out of school at 2:05pm. The high school student arrives home at 2:25pm. The kindergarten student gets home at 3:00pm. The reason? The bus used for the high school student is available at school dismissal time. The kindergarten bus is still across town dropping off middle school students. Solution? Either add another bus or swap it so that the older kids wait longer.

TMHS Student Trivia Night

TEWKSBURY - On Saturday, October 17, 2009, the TMHS PAC and Student Councils hosted a Student Trivia Night at the Tewksbury Senior Center. Tables of up to 10 people competed against each other, answering questions about music, history, television, movies and much more. The money raised by this event will go to each of the class councils at the high school. The winning team consisted of students from the sophomore class, a parent, and their class advisor. A great time was had by all and the kids are already making plans to run this event again next year sometime in early March. TMHS PAC would like to thank all the parent volunteers who made this event possible. A special thanks goes out to Keith Rauseo, the emcee, who came up with all the questions, and to Joe Russell, the DJ, who kept the kids motivated with his music in between rounds.

Who are these people?

The Tewksbury Historical Society

presents a Discovery Workshop on Oct. 24

TEWKSBURY - The Tewksbury Historical Society had this picture at the Tewksbury High School Reunion. Donna Haines, a life member of the Society spotted it at the "Discovery" area. She identified them as her mother Hazel and her grandmother Mabel Haines. She had never seen this picture and she was thrilled by her discovery. Because the Historical Society has so many unknown pictures of people and unknown pictures of Tewksbury, it has become an annual event to have a "Discovery Workshop." This year the workshop will be in the Local History Room of Tewksbury Library on October 24, 2009 from 1:00 - 4:00 p.m. As usual the public is welcome. The Historical Society requests any old-timer or long time resident of Tewksbury to come and take the challenge to help identify the community's unknown past. The Society's photographic archive staff of Bill Fullerton, Doris McPhail, and Dave Marcus will be handling the showing of the "unknown" photographs. Maybe you will see someone or something you know and can help identify them. Share the knowledge of the past with the future of Tewksbury. Maybe you are a newer resident. You are encouraged to come and view the photographic archives and perhaps you have a photograph of Tewksbury that you would want to donate to the Society. You do not have to be a member to take advantage of Historical Society meetings or workshops. The Society will be expanding its presence in the Local History Room by adding more hours and will be on duty in the room. Stop by for a guided tour. See you on October 24 for some historical discovery!

Middlesex Canal Association presents...

When Boston was cut in two

BILLERICA - The Fall Meeting of the Middlesex Canal Association will be held on Sunday, November 8 at 2:00 p.m. in the Middlesex Canal Museum and Visitor Center at 71 Faulkner Rd in North Billerica, MA.

Brief Introduction: David Dettinger, a Director of the MCA, and author of the definitive study of the Canal extension in Boston will draw attention to the fact that the Canal extension bisected Boston from 1810 to 1830.

The Middlesex Canal (1803-1853), dug by hand from the Merrimack River at Lowell to the Charles River at Charlestown during the second term of George Washington's presidency, played a major role in the development of Boston. Boats were drawn by horse to the Charles River. There they were pulled by chain across the Charles River to the northern inlet of the scalloped peninsula that was Boston, across the canal and down Mill Creek to the long wharfs of the Boston Harbor.

Duane Lucia, President of the West End Civic Association and an aficionado of Charles Bulfinch will be the main speaker. Mr. Lucia will portray Bulfinch, not only as one of Boston's greatest architects, but also as the person solely responsible for "putting the proper in Bostonian." He designed some of Boston's most notable buildings (State Capital, Massachusetts General Hospital, Harrison Grey Otis etc.) and laid out a plan that led to the filling in of the Boston Mill Pond creating the Bulfinch Triangle. Here the Canal bisected the Boston Peninsula at Canal Street on its way to Haymarket Square and the shores of the Atlantic.

A tribute to the Middlesex Canal is planned at the end of Canal Street by the Hines Raymond LLC when construction begins on their new building. The current recession has delayed their progress.

In the lobby of the newly constructed Raymond Property Company building at 53-85 Canal Street is a framed copy of the definitive map of the Middlesex Canal as prepared by Col. Wilbur M. Hoxie. This was prepared for the acceptance of the Middlesex Canal into the National Registry of Historic Places.

Please join in for a delightful afternoon. Phone 978-670-2740 or visit www.middlesexcanal.org for additional information. Handicapped accessible.

A sad day for Wilmington

Parent and coach resort to violence

By JAMIE POTE

WILMINGTON - An ordinary Pop Warner Football practice has turned the town of Wilmington into a media circus.

On Friday night a physical altercation between two Wilmington residents - a coach and a parent - has been the focus of national and local news, and has resulted in a criminal court case scheduled for November 17.

According to Wilmington Police Department reports, Michael VonKahle, 48, of Winchell Road, and his 12-year-old son arrived at the Pop Warner C team's practice a few minutes late, at approximately 5:10 p.m. VonKahle reportedly told the team's coaching staff that their tardiness was his fault - not his son's. Coach William Reynolds ordered VonKahle's son to run laps.

VonKahle voiced his displeasure by reportedly telling Reynolds, "If anybody needs to run laps, it should be you - you fat (expletive)."

Reynolds' and VonKahle's stories vary from that point on. But police have determined that the two of them left the practice field area together about ten minutes after the verbal exchange. At approximately 5:40 p.m., the two of them walked behind the snack shack of the Robert Palmer Field at Wilmington's Town Hall, where a physical altercation ensued.

VonKahle sustained injuries in that altercation, including a broken eye socket, a broken nose, a concussion and a torn left rotator cuff, according to police reports. Reynolds left the altercation without any reported injuries, but, according to court documents, he had blood on his right hand.

Wilmington Police Chief Mike Begonis spoke to reporters outside the Wilmington Public Safety Building late Monday morning. He stated that a summons for a felony charge of a simple assault and battery with serious bodily injury was issued to Reynolds. A simple assault and battery is not an arrestable offense, unless witnessed by a police officer.

VonKahle filed a criminal complaint against Reynolds on Monday morning at Woburn District Court, and Reynolds will be arraigned in Woburn on Tuesday, November 17, at 8:30 a.m.

"As it stands right now, the Wilmington Police Department is actively investigating the incident that happened on (October 16)," said Begonis. "We are collecting witnesses, and witness statements. We have statements from both of the individuals involved in the case. Following up that, we have medical reports and we have been in contact with the District Attorney's Office. At this time we have sought a complaint of assault and battery with serious bodily injury against Mr. Reynolds at the Woburn District Court. We sought out the complaint because that's what the facts tell us so far. But we still are going to continue to investigate and we are seeking more witnesses. Anyone who was there that night and has information, we would appreciate a phone call."

Immediately following the altercation, Reynolds went back to run his practice, according to witnesses. VonKahle reportedly left the area and made a cell phone call to arrange for a ride home for his son. At the time, according to his statement to police, VonKahle "didn't realize that his face was bloodied to the extent it was, then drove himself home and cleaned himself up" before arriving at the police station around 8:30 p.m. Between his departure from the field and his arrival at the police station, Wilmington Pop Warner League President Debbie Smith was notified of the incident. She immediately left a Pop Warner fundraiser event and met VonKahle at the Public Safety Building. "I met him (at the police station) and absolutely I could tell that he was in a fight," she said on Sunday afternoon. "The two officers and I told (VonKahle) that he needed to go to a hospital. It was clearly visible that he got into a fight."

VonKahle was taken by ambulance to Winchester Hospital, and was later transported to Mass General Hospital. On Saturday afternoon, VonKahle informed Wilmington police that he had broken bones in his face and around his eye, and that his injuries would require surgery. On Monday morning, VonKahle was seen arriving at the Woburn District Court for his criminal complaint against Reynolds and was approached by WBZ-Reporter Sera Congi.

"Listen I have no comment," he said to the camera. "I just want to take care of this in court, that's what I'm here for today."

Later that afternoon, VonKahle spoke to Channel 7's Dan Hausle and said, "I have three fractures around my eye, two fractures around my nose. I didn't think I was going to take a beating for saying something - that was my mistake."

In the same interview with Hausle, VonKahle explained his version of what happened. "Yeah, I made a mistake in calling him fat ... but, you know, I went over to the other parents (on the bleachers after my remark). I sat there, and then he came over and said 'Let's go for a walk.' As we got out there, and he threw down his jacket, it was a whole different thing. And then two seconds later, I was lights out, and it was over. I actually said 'What the bleep' and I was looking at his jacket, and as soon as I put my eyes on it, gone, I was out."

The Town Crier visited VonKahle's home twice on Monday. During the second visit, a family member stated that, under the advisement of the Middlesex District Attorney's Office, VonKahle would not speak to reporters.

According to police reports, VonKahle is listed at 6-foot 3-inches, 300 pounds. Reynolds is listed at 6-foot, 200 pounds.

VonKahle, according to court documents, was under the impression that the two of them were just going to discuss his remark. But after going behind the snack shack building, VonKahle stated to the police that he was surprised when Reynolds took off his jacket and let it drop to the ground. VonKahle said he was looking at the jacket on the ground, while Reynolds was punching him in the face. VonKahle could not confirm to police officers Friday night how many times he had been struck.

Reynolds offers a different version. He said that when VonKahle and his son arrived late to the practice the father approached the team's assistant coach John Maga and talked to him about his son being late. Reynolds said he told the football team that if anyone was late, that player was going to run laps. At that point, according to Reynolds, VonKahle started walking towards him in an aggressive manner and yelled, "Hey, coach why don't you run a few laps you fat boy."

Reynolds says he responded to VonKahle by saying "the kids showing up late are going to have to run laps, because it's not fair to the kids that are here on time every night."

Then, according to Reynolds' statements, VonKahle yelled at him again saying, "Why don't you run a few laps you fat (expletive)" and continued to taunt the coach.

Reynolds said the verbal exchange was witnessed by Maga, his other assistant coaches, and multiple other witnesses.

VonKahle then, according to Reynolds, walked off the practice field and went over to talk to other parents. That is when Reynolds claimed he turned to VonKahle and said, "If there is a problem and you want to talk, let's go somewhere and not in front of the kids."

Reynolds told police that he walked with VonKahle toward the wooded area, and the two of them got far away enough so that none of the youth football players could hear them. According to Reynolds' police statement, "VonKahle then threw his jacket over my head and punched me in the side of the head. When I got his jacket off my head, I began throwing punches at VonKahle." That altercation continued for a few seconds, says Reynolds, before he asked VonKahle, "We had enough?" "At which time, according to Reynolds, VonKahle answered 'Yeah.'"

Reynolds said that he then went back to practice. He parent on the team, so I can't, pending the investigation, say to him 'you can't come down here and watch this game', so he was here (Sunday) morning watching the game. He did not coach the team. I did call the police station and asked them to come down just because he was present."

Smith stressed that Pop Warner will not tolerate such behavior.

"Whether the parent was taunting him or not, in today's day in age, it shouldn't result in violence," Smith said. "We are here as role models for these kids. I take great pride in this program and what we have turned it into and this could literally destroy us. The violence in and believes that VonKahle instigated both the verbal and physical incidents, and considered his own actions to be the result of "aggressive actions towards me."

Reynolds added in his statements that he had not had any other incidents with VonKahle, and had no idea that this situation would result in a fight, but when they went over to the woods, he could see that, "this guy had fighting on his mind."

Reynolds has since filed a cross complaint against VonKahle, "for the assault and battery that occurred against me."

"At this time we don't have any specific individuals who did witness this except for the two individuals who were involved," said Begonis. "Right now we have cross complaints, so at this point it's a he-said-she-said, as they both claim that they were assaulted, so we're trying with the best information that we have to move forward professionally with this investigation."

Reynolds' statement asserts that another parent spoke to VonKahle via cell phone immediately after the incident, and that VonKahle was laughing about the altercation and was "embarrassed to come back to practice."

Reynolds has been suspended from coaching indefinitely pending the results of the investigation.

"We have removed the coach," said Smith. "He is a youth sports is unacceptable. Pop Warner could pull our charter and say we don't want you anymore. We can't have this."

Smith has been the president of the league for four years. She said that the program has never had a problem of this magnitude before.

"We have never had anything like this before," said Smith. "This is bizarre. How could you ever imagine something like this could happen? You see it everywhere else, to think that it could happen here? Never. It's just very sad."

Begonis was asked for his thoughts about a youth football practice getting out of hand with a physical altercation between a coach and a parent.

"I don't want to comment specifically on this case, but obviously emotions run high from time to time in these types of situations," Begonis said. "We (in Wilmington) have many, many youth sports activities, and the parents and the coaches get along famously. This is an isolated case and we are going to treat it that way."

"This doesn't paint the town in great light. Already there's been a lot of media attention on this situation over the last couple of days, unfortunately. But we have a job as a police department to get to the bottom of it in the appropriate manner and that's what we are attempting to do."

Invitation to Sing with the POPs!

Holiday Music Performance Opportunity Program

WILMINGTON - The Merrimack Valley Chorus will host a Performance Opportunity Program for four consecutive Thursdays beginning October 29, from 6:45 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Wilmington Arts Council Building on Route 62 in Wilmington, MA. Women and girls of any age are invited to learn four holiday songs in four part a cappella harmony, then perform with the group at the Wilmington Congregational Church on November 30, and again in the chorus's annual show in Andover, MA, on December 6. Participants in the POP program will learn "White Christmas," "Winter Wonderland," a carol medley combining "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" and "Silent Night," and "It's the Most Wonderful Time of the Year." No prior singing experience is necessary, and there is no audition involved. Those who attend will be voice placed depending on how high or low they sing. "It's a chance for someone to try something new or simply revive her holiday spirits in a supportive and joyful environment," commented Eileen Gioe, director of MVC.

"It's fun having new people singing with us for the season," said longtime Merrimack Valley Chorus member Mary Kriener of Lexington, MA. "We love entertaining and sharing our harmony, not only with the public, but with women and girls who enjoy singing, but haven't tried a cappella music yet. Singing has always added joy to my holiday season, and I imagine other women feel the same."

The Merrimack Valley chorus, a chapter of Sweet Adelines International, numbers 50 women from more than twenty communities in Greater Boston and southern New Hampshire who share a love of music and singing a cappella four-part harmony. The chorus holds weekly open rehearsals on Thursday at the Wilmington Arts Council Building, 219 Middlesex Ave., (Rt. 62), Wilmington, MA. The Merrimack Valley Chorus currently is the regional Second Place Chorus and First Place Mid-Size Chorus medalist for Sweet Adelines International. For more information, visit www.merrimackvalleychorus.org on the web, or call (781) 821-1619.

Tewksbury Library Notes

by Jen Hinderer

Looking for a good book?

We'd like to recommend a good book...

Looking for something good to read? Are you ready for more than just the Bestseller list from that famous newspaper? Bringing good books and readers together is our favorite job, so let the library staff help.

Visiting us at the library? The first stop in your search should be the first floor. Start by browsing our newest books, which are on the shelves facing the front desk, then check out the displays on the tables in the browsing wing and at the end of the stacks. The staff prepares these displays especially to highlight books that we think will interest you and introduce authors or titles you may have missed.

Or consider joining one of our book groups: every month our two book discussion groups meet to talk about the book of the month and recommend good books to each other. The Mystery book group meets during the third week of the month, our other group meets during the fourth week. Both groups offer a morning and evening meeting time: find out more information at the library or by using our online calendar.

Looking for an even easier way? Ask a member of the staff. We're happy to lead you to a new author, start you in a new series or guide you to one of our many lists of recommended reads.

Even if you aren't here at 300 Chandler Street we still can help! From your home computer you can visit our website at www.tewksburypl.org to see "What is Tewksbury Reading?" the latest addition to our homepage. This little "widget" shows you the covers of our latest purchases: just click on one for more information about the book including the author and tags describing what the book is about. Keep clicking to visit our Library Thing shelf to read reviews and make your own comments: join a community of readers in Tewksbury and across the globe.

Or try Novelist, a great database for readers of all levels and interests. You'll need your library card to login, and then start with lists of award winners, author read-alikes or recommended reads: or try a search for your favorite author to find titles you may have missed, or to locate books with a similar plot. You'll find Novelist by clicking on the "Online Databases" tab at the top of our webpage, and then scan the list for Novelist.

Finally you can use the online catalog to search for new reading, just by looking at the entry for something you've already read. Begin by searching for a book you have enjoyed then look for the subject headings on the left side of the page. Clicking on the subject will take you to lists of other books that share the same subject: chances are you'll enjoy them as well.

Here's some examples of great reading waiting for you to here at YOUR library: The Elegance of the

Hedgehog by Muriel Barbery
Loot the moon by Mark Arsenault

The Husband Habit by Alisa Valdez-Rodriguez

assault and battery is not an arrestable offense, unless witnessed by a police officer.

VonKahle filed a criminal complaint against Reynolds on Monday morning at Woburn District Court, and Reynolds will be arraigned in Woburn on Tuesday, November 17, at 8:30 a.m.

"As it stands right now, the Wilmington Police Department is actively investigating the incident that happened on (October 16)," said Begonis. "We are collecting witnesses, and witness statements. We have statements from both of the individuals involved in the case. Following up that, we have medical reports and we have been in contact with the District Attorney's Office. At this time we have sought a complaint of assault and battery with serious bodily injury against Mr. Reynolds at the Woburn District Court. We sought out the complaint because that's what the facts tell us so far. But we still are going to continue to investigate and we are seeking more witnesses. Anyone who was there that night and has information, we would appreciate a phone call."

Immediately following the altercation, Reynolds went back to run his practice, according to witnesses. VonKahle reportedly left the area and made a cell phone call to arrange for a ride home for his son. At the time, according to his statement to police, VonKahle "didn't realize that his face was bloodied to the extent it was, then drove himself home and cleaned himself up" before arriving at the police station around 8:30 p.m. Between his departure from the field and his arrival at the police station, Wilmington Pop Warner League President Debbie Smith was notified of the incident. She immediately left a Pop Warner fundraiser event and met VonKahle at the Public Safety Building.

"I met him (at the police station) and absolutely I could tell that he was in a fight," she said on Sunday afternoon. "The two officers and I told (VonKahle) that he needed to go to a hospital. It was clearly visible that he got into a fight."

VonKahle was taken by ambulance to Winchester Hospital, and was later transported to Mass General Hospital. On Saturday afternoon, VonKahle informed Wilmington police that he had broken bones in his face and around his eye, and that his injuries would require surgery. On Monday morning, VonKahle was seen arriving at the Woburn District Court for his criminal complaint against Reynolds and was approached by WBZ-Reporter Sera Congi.

"Listen I have no comment," he said to the camera. "I just want to take care of this in court, that's what I'm here for today."

Later that afternoon, VonKahle spoke to Channel 7's Dan Hausle and said, "I have three fractures around my eye, two fractures around my nose. I didn't think I was going to take a beating for saying something - that was my mistake."

In the same interview with Hausle, VonKahle explained his version of what happened. "Yeah, I made a mistake in calling him fat ... but, you know, I went over to the other parents (on the bleachers after my remark). I sat there, and then he came over and said 'Let's go for a walk.' As we got out there, and he threw down his jacket, it was a whole different thing. And then two seconds later, I was lights out, and it was over. I actually said 'What the bleep' and I was looking at his jacket, and as soon as I put my eyes on it, gone, I was out."

The Town Crier visited VonKahle's home twice on Monday. During the second visit, a family member stated that, under the advisement of the Middlesex District Attorney's Office, VonKahle would not speak to reporters.

According to police reports, VonKahle is listed at 6-foot 3-inches, 300 pounds. Reynolds is listed at 6-foot, 200 pounds.

VonKahle, according to court documents, was under the impression that the two of them were just going to discuss his remark. But after going behind the snack shack building, VonKahle stated to the police that he was surprised when Reynolds took off his jacket and let it drop to the ground. VonKahle said he was looking at the jacket on the ground, while Reynolds was punching him in the face. VonKahle couldn't confirm to police officers Friday night how many times he had been struck.

Reynolds offers a different version. He said that when VonKahle and his son arrived late to the practice the father approached the team's assistant coach John Maga and talked to him about his son being late. Reynolds said he told the football team that if anyone was late, that player was going to run laps. At that point, according to Reynolds, VonKahle started walking towards him in an aggressive manner and yelled, "Hey, coach why don't you run a few laps you fat boy."

Reynolds says he responded to VonKahle by saying "the kids showing up late are going to have to run laps, because it's not fair to the kids that are here on time every night."

Then, according to Reynolds' statements, VonKahle yelled at him again saying, "Why don't you run a few laps you fat (expletive)" and continued to taunt the coach.

Reynolds said the verbal exchange was witnessed by Maga, his other assistant coaches, and multiple other witnesses.

VonKahle then, according to Reynolds, walked off the practice field and went over to talk to other parents. That is when Reynolds claimed he turned to VonKahle and said, "If there is a problem and you want to talk, let's go somewhere and not in front of the kids."

Reynolds told police that he walked with VonKahle toward the wooded area, and the two of them got far away enough so that none of the youth football players could hear them. According to Reynolds' police statement, "VonKahle then threw his jacket over my head and punched me in the side of the head. When I got his jacket off my head, I began throwing punches at VonKahle."

That altercation continued for a few seconds, says Reynolds, before he asked VonKahle, "We had enough?" At which time, according to Reynolds, VonKahle answered "Yeah." Reynolds said that he then went back to practice. He and believes that VonKahle instigated both the verbal and physical incidents, and considered his own actions to be the result of "aggressive actions towards me."

Reynolds added in his statements that he had not had any other incidents with VonKahle, and had no idea that this situation would result in a fight, but when they went over to the woods, he could see that, "this guy had fighting on his mind."

Reynolds has since filed a cross complaint against VonKahle, "for the assault and battery that occurred against me."

"At this time we don't have any specific individuals who did witness this except for the two individuals who were involved," said Begonis. "Right now we have cross complaints, so at this point it's a he-said-she said, as they both claim that they were assaulted, so we're trying with the best information that we have to move forward professionally with this investigation."

Reynolds' statement asserts that another parent spoke to VonKahle via cell phone immediately after the incident, and that VonKahle was laughing about the altercation and was "embarrassed to come back to practice."

Reynolds has been suspended from coaching indefinitely pending the results of the investigation.

"We have removed the coach," said Smith. "He is a parent on the team, so I can't, pending the investigation, say to him 'you can't come down here and watch this game', so he was here (Sunday) morning watching the game. He did not coach the team. I did call the police station and asked them to come down just because he was present."

Smith stressed that Pop Warner will not tolerate such behavior.

"Whether the parent was taunting him or not, in today's day in age, it shouldn't result in violence," Smith said. "We are here as role models for these kids. I take great pride into this program and what we have turned it into and this could literally destroy us. The violence in youth sports is unacceptable. Pop Warner could pull our charter and say we don't want you anymore. We can't have this."

Smith has been the president of the league for four years. She said that the program has never had a problem of this magnitude before.

"We have never had anything like this before," said Smith. "This is bizarre. How could you ever imagine something like this could happen? You see it everywhere else, to think that it could happen here? Never. It's just very sad."

Begonis was asked for his thoughts about a youth football practice getting out of hand with a physical altercation between a coach and a parent.

"I don't want to comment specifically on this case, but obviously emotions run high from time to time in these types of situations," Begonis said. "We (in Wilmington) have many, many youth sports activities, and the parents and the coaches get along famously. This is an isolated case and we are going to treat it that way."

"This doesn't paint the town in great light. Already there's been a lot of media attention on this situation over the last couple of days, unfortunately. But we have a job as a police department to get to the bottom of it in the appropriate manner and that's what we are attempting to do."

ALCC hosts Halloween Movie Night

WILMINGTON - Abundant Life Christian Center, located right on the Town Common, will be presenting two family friendly movies on its big screen. A dual feature, It's the Great Pumpkin, Charlie Brown and Davey & Goliath's Halloween, Who Did It? will be shown on Friday, October 30 at 7:00 p.m.

This dual feature will run about one hour. These classic films are filled with fun and laughter that can be appreciated by the entire family and at the same time share some great life lessons about honesty and friendship.

This Halloween is very special for Charlie Brown as he is finally invited to a party. He and his friends have a great time together as they look to see if the Great Pumpkin will rise out of his pumpkin patch. It's downright "spooktacular" in a feature that overflows with charm, wit and wisdom.

The second feature, Halloween, Who Did It?, is again about a special Halloween party. Davey and Goliath make some preparations for a fun evening. But as often happens, they get a little carried away in some of the things they do. It's a fun, lighthearted story about honesty and setting the record straight.

A MOMENT WITH...

Mary Armata

Volunteer Coach for WHS Girls Soccer

Coming from such a major soccer background, who first inspired you to play, how old were you, and what were some of the first things you learned or did?

My dad (Tony) is the one that got my brothers (Christian and Andrew) and I into playing soccer. I was about five and we learned the basics of passing, shooting and to have fun.

When did you first become a goalie, and why?

I was about nine when I started in goal. My brothers and I would kick a ball around in the backyard and they had more fun shooting at me then letting me shoot. I learned really fast how to stop a ball that was going with a good pace at my head.

What are some of the toughest things you had to learn as a goalie for WHS? What were your strengths?

The toughest thing I had to learn was to play at a higher level of soccer. I had always played Wilmington Youth Soccer but at WHS it's definitely different. When I got to WHS, I started playing club and summer soccer to improve for the high school season. My strength was making the really hard saves to keep us in the rough games. The WHS teams I played on knew they could count on me 99 percent of the time to clean up what they missed and start up an offensive attack.

Were you involved in any other activities or hobbies while in high school or college?

Not really in college - I was trying very hard to keep my grades up in order to play and graduate on time. At WHS I played softball and basketball.

How involved with soccer were you at college?

I played sophomore and junior year as a goalie and senior year as a forward. I know it's kind of funny for a goalie to say they played forward for a year but due to an injury I couldn't play goalie and the team was down players, so the coach asked me to play forward.

What was one of the greatest memories from when you played?

I've had so many great memories it's tough to choose, but I would say it's all the amazing people I've gotten to meet.

What's it like assistant coaching the WHS team with your former coach, Sue Hendee?

It's a lot of fun and hard work. I feel like I can give back to a program and person that was such a big part of my life growing up. Sue gave me the opportunity as a player to shine on the field by putting her confidence in me as a goalie. She has put that same confidence in me as a coach. I've learned a lot from Sue over the years. Whether it is playing for, on the same team as or coaching with, I have a tremendous amount of respect for Sue.

What are some of your most important methods/advice for coaching goalie Jackie Zarembo?

With Jackie only being 5-3 we've had to work a lot on high shots and crosses. As a goalie we naturally keep every goal scored on us in and replay them over and over to see what could have been done differently. I've tried to get Jackie to see the positive out of all goals scored or saves made and realize that the weight of the game doesn't just fall on her shoulders, but on the whole team. It was a lesson that took me several years after WHS to learn.

What are some of your future goals for Jackie, the WHS team, or your coaching career?

For Jackie and the team, I'm confident they can be successful at anything they try. After getting to know all of the girls on and off the field, they are some of the most amazing young women and will go very far in life. For my coaching career, I would really like to see us win a league title and the state championship. But knowing in some small way something I said or did helped out one of the girls, means more to me than any win.

What was one of your favorite memories as a coach?

This is a tough one because in the three years I've been an assistant coach we've done so many things on and off the field. If I had to pick, it would be the fun things we do off the field. Going to Camp 40 Acres, you get to see the girls being goofy and supportive of each other and just have fun without the pressure to win.

With the high school soccer season coming to an end soon, is there anything else that will be starting up for you as far as other soccer teams, off season, or other activities/events that may not be soccer-related?

We are hoping to have a WHS alumni game the day after Thanksgiving. It would be great to see some of the women I played with and helped coach. I'm looking forward to the holiday season and spending time with my family.

Wilmington to officially join Middlesex in 2011

By JOE HAGGERTY
Daily Times Chronicle

There have been plenty of whispers over the past summer that Arlington High School - and perhaps even Wilmington High - would be joining up with the Middlesex League early and entering the mix next year for the 2010-11 season.

Not so said Arlington High School athletic director Ted Dever, who did admit to the Woburn Daily Times that the Spy Ponders had very much looked into the option of potentially leaving the league one year early after hard feeling were stirred up by their Middlesex League choice - but ultimately Arlington will return to the Dual County League fold for one more season this year.

The potential move was prompted by feelings that the DCL was going to throw Arlington High out of their league a year early based on hard feeling over their move to the Middlesex League. But that extreme measure never materialized, and instead the expansion plan will go forward as expected with the Spy Ponders and Wildcats joining up with the ML at the start of the 2011 high school campaign.

The Spy Ponders would have been agreeable to making the move a year early, according to multiple sources with knowledge of the situation, but couldn't do it when Wilmington High opted against joining up with the ML next season. The Wildcats simply didn't want to extricate themselves from the Cape Ann League one season prior to their planned exodus, and would have created an odd number of teams in the Middlesex League.

Dever wouldn't confirm this portion of Arlington's potential move, but did express appreciation that his high

Improbable two minute drive ends magically

Wildcats kicking and screaming after last second win

Frissore splits uprights from 38 yards out to seal the deal

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

With about seven seconds left on Friday night's game, Wilmington High junior Chris Frissore lofted a 38-yard field goal straight through the uprights but just barely over the bar, for his first field goal of the season, and more importantly that boot gave Wilmington a thrilling 24-22 come from behind victory over Newburyport in a Cape Ann League clash held at Alumni Stadium.

It's believed to be just the third time in the past 20 years that the Wildcats won a game in the final minute on a field goal, with the others coming in 2007 and 1989.

"Coach (Mike Barry) asked me if I had it, and I said 'I don't know, I think so'. Then he called for the field goal team and I just kicked it," said Frissore, the very unassuming hero of the game.

Frissore had missed a 27-yard field goal late in the third quarter, but was a little more confident that he had a better chance of nailing this one as the ball was placed on the right hash, instead of the left side.

"When coach asked me, I didn't think it was such a good idea at the time," said Frissore. "I'm just glad he had faith in me."

Frissore was already playing one heck of a game to that point. He made three catches for a combined 91 yards - including what he turned into a huge 60-yarder coming while being interfered with on a halfback option pass from running back John Parsons. In addition he was 3-for-3 on his PAT kicks all coming before he missed the 27-yard field goal with 4:02 left in the third quarter with the Wildcats leading 21-16.

The score remained that way until late in the fourth quarter. After Newburyport recovered a Wilmington fumble, the Clippers went ahead four plays later to take a 22-21 lead with 3:09 left. Wilmington then headed up field with its two minute offense and quarterback Sean Hanley completed eight passes and helped move the ball to the Clippers 21 yard line. Facing fourth-and-four with about seven seconds left on the clock, Barry had to make a decision.

"I knew before that (completion to Brian Fennelly) that there was 15 seconds left as the game clock is not official," explained Barry on his decision. "Fennelly made the catch and the referee hesitated (to signal if Fennelly stayed in bounds or not) and in high school football you can't wait, so I called the timeout right then. I called Frissore over and I said 'can you do it' and he said 'yeah I'll try'. He stepped in and made a nice kick. And I don't think he's ever kicked one that far in practice."

After a nice hold and the kick was off, Barry said he didn't know the outcome until he saw the officials make the call.

"When it left I said 'oh this has a chance'. Then you can't see anything and you can't tell until I saw the referees give a nod and then their hands went up," said Barry. "Then I just said 'By-God he's done it'."

Back on November 2, 2007, Stephen Stewart kicked a 27 yard game winning field goal coming with 17 seconds left to lift the Wildcats past North Andover, 10-7. And back on November 3, 1989, Dick Hersom booted a 33-yard field goal with 1:01 left in the game to lift Wilmington past Lowell, 15-13, in what was the program's first victory over Lowell since 1980.

"It was an incredible ending and just a thrilling way to win the game," said Barry.

After making his game winning kick, Frissore still had one chore to do, the ensuing kick-off as there was still two seconds remaining.

"I said to Chris, whatever you do, do not kick the ball to either No. 7 or No. 39. Those two kids can't touch the ball," explained Barry on his words to Frissore before the kick-off. "So I picked out the kid with the cleanest uniform and said 'Chris kick it to that kid'."

Chris did - and eventually the ball was coughed up and Wilmington pounced on the loose ball to end the game. That's when Frissore was able to soak it all in.

"I just wanted to celebrate with my teammates," he said.

"Forcing the school to leave the DCL early wasn't really going to hurt me, but it could have really adversely affected all of the student-athletes. I give the other AD's and principals in the league a lot of credit for giving it the proper perspective and making the right choice."

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Trailing by a point with 2:59 left in an already exciting game, the arm of Sean Hanley and the leg of Chris Frissore helped things get much more exciting in the waning seconds of Friday night's Cape Ann League Football match against Newburyport.

The Clippers had just scored after taking advantage of a Wildcat fumble and went ahead 22-21 after the conversion pass failed. It was their first time all night the visitors had the lead and it didn't stay long.

Hanley marched the team right down the field, completing 8-of-12 passes for 54 yards, including a short 6-yard gain to Brian Fennelly with under 15 seconds left. That allowed head coach Mike Barry to make a decision to either go for it on fourth-and-four from the 21, or have Frissore try his second field goal attempt of the night, as the junior missed from 27 yards out late in the third quarter.

Barry elected for the kick, and Frissore delivered nailing a 38-yarder that was straight as an arrow but barely made it over the bar, giving the Wildcats an incredible 24-22 victory on a cold Homecoming Night held at Alumni Stadium.

"I knew before that (completion to Fennelly) that there was 15 seconds left as the game clock is not official. Fennelly made the catch and the referee hesitated (to signal if Fennelly stayed in bounds or not) and in high school football you can't wait, so I called the timeout right then. I called Frissore over and I said 'can you do it' and he said 'yeah I'll try'. He stepped in and made a nice kick. And I don't think he's ever kicked one that far in practice."

After a nice hold and the kick was off, Barry said he didn't know the outcome until he saw the zebras.

"When it left I said 'oh this has a chance'. Then you can't see anything and you can't tell until I saw the referees give a nod and then their hands went up. Then I just said 'By-God he's done it'."

This game really couldn't have been between two more even teams. Wilmington took a 14-3 lead and then midway through the second quarter Newburyport scored on consecutive drives sandwiched between a Wildcat score and the home town team had a 21-16 halftime lead in a crazy offensive half that saw Newburyport chalk up 202 total yards of offense.

The third quarter was scoreless, and after both teams exchanged fumbles, Newburyport took over on downs with the ball at the Wildcat 11 with 3:52 to go. Fifty-three seconds later, Matthew Mattola caught a 15-yard pass on fourth down giving the Clippers the 22-21 lead with 3:09 to go. After a kickoff return of 20 yards by Kevin Moriarty, Wilmington went to work, with the ball on its own 25.

"After that (Newburyport) touchdown (in the fourth quarter), we came right down and we executed some things and hit some passes," said Barry. "I think we could have scored if we had another minute, but we didn't. We tried to use the timeouts wisely, in hindsight it worked out but maybe I would have called one of them a little bit sooner. We have played a lot of close games in the past and not that our kids are always going to come out on the winning end of it, but they aren't uncomfortable and saying 'oh God what are we going to do now'? So I give our kids a lot of credit."

Hanley connected with five different receivers during that last minute drive. Most of the passes were for short gains but none were bigger than the 19-yard strike to tight end Brian Hurley coming on fourth-and-six from the Newburyport 46. After two incomplete passes to the end zone, Hanley moved the ball six yards with the pass to Fennelly, which set up Frissore's dramatic kick.

"What killed us was not scoring (in the third quarter)," said Barry. "This win was all about Chris's kick. But on that last drive, the line was great and Sean (Hanley) had a lot of time, the running backs did a nice job of blocking and the receivers did a nice job of catching the ball and we got out of bounds once and that saved us a timeout. We got another first down by a yard and that saved a timeout."

Hurley, who had three catches on the night for 36 yards, has become a very good, and very big target for the Wildcats, especially lately. His fourth down catch all but gave the Wildcats the opportunity to come away with the win.

"Hurley has been big for us," said Barry. "And he just missed that one earlier in the game and if he caught that one it would have been a touchdown (but Hanley overthrew him). Sean has been playing well for us all season, and I don't think tonight was his best game, but the last two minutes was certainly pretty good."

Hanley only attempted nine passes in the first half as senior Evan Butters controlled the game with his running ability. He ended the night with 137 yards on 22 touches and two scores giving him eight rushing touchdowns on the season. He had 72 of his rushing yards in the first half, with TD runs of 4 and 1 yards, respectively.

The second score was set up by a 60-yard halfback option pass from John Parsons, who underthrew Frissore, and the junior receiver, although he was interfered, came back to the ball, made a catch and then went for about 40 more yards before being tackled at the 4 yard line. Butters followed three plays later with his second score and the Wildcats lead went to 21-10.

Newburyport closed the gap scoring a touchdown with 24 seconds left in the second quarter, before taking the lead with Mattola's score with 3:09 to go.

"I give Newburyport a lot of credit," said Barry. "They had some starters out and school programs weren't left to fend for themselves in a year of independent affiliation before joining up with the league.

"We took a hard look at the Middlesex League this summer, but ultimately it worked out better for all parties involved to just keep with the original plan," said Dever. "We're very excited about joining up with the league in 2011, and we're also happy that to stay with the Dual County League until then.

It's no secret that other members of the DCL were unhappy upon learning that Arlington would be jetting their league for a Middlesex League dream they've been pursuing for years, and the next two years will be uncomfortable at best for many of the players involved.

But high school sports are about the kids, ultimately, and that's what Dever reminded everybody involved when considering all options at their disposal.

"It's been a pretty chilly reception at league meetings and other things involving the Dual County League, and that's to be expected a little bit," said Dever. "But everything we do is about the kids at the end of the day, and I wrote a letter to the other members of the DCL reminding everyone of that fact."

The 1961 Wilmington High School football team and coach Fred Bellissimo celebrate a victory on the way to clinching the Suburban League Championship. In the photo taken by the Boston Globe's Paul Maguire are the State scoring leader Jack Bowen (46), star quarterback Dick Allard (47), Dave Fuller (45), Jim Gillis (23), Bill Ballou (41), Frank McLaughlin (15) and Bill Ritchie (15). That face peering between Bowen and Allard is 255 pound tackle Jon Fairfield. Wilmington would defeat Tewksbury to clinch the title.

Remembering some old Wilmington 'sports'

They are a group lovingly labeled 'Wilmington's Old Sports' and every couple of months they gather at the library and swap stories of what will always be remembered as a simpler time in their lives. They were young, they were athletic and they were the best athletes in a tiny high school making a name for itself all the way up Route 93 to Boston. News didn't travel quite as fast in 1961 as it does today. The best athletes at the high school didn't much care for the newest car or the slickest suit. They were Wildcats. They were the best.

Jack Bowen, a star running back on the Wilmington High School undefeated Suburban League Football Champions of 1961, was part of the 'Old Sports' group that gathered at the library for a meeting in March of 2008. The men at this memory round table remembered Gerry O'Reilly, Arthur Spears, Ethel Butters, Frank Kelley, Jay Tighe, Joe Gilligan, Kevin Field, Hank Stewart and Bowen. They all are much more than memories in some faded scrapbook dotted with old photographs. This look back at the past would make the late publisher of these pages very proud.

By: Rick Cooke

The Captain would grab his battered Polaroid camera and head to some field somewhere and come back with the photos of a running back or a track star that were all a blur. The out-of-focus photos would be published, Larz would hang out the story himself on his clacking typewriter, and Wilmington history would be made. None of this would be possible were it not for the athletes involved. One of the best of the best was Jack Bowen.

That 1961 Bowen team completed a two-year run when the WHS football squad won 17 games and tied one. That tie came in the 1960 season when Chelmsford High School scored on a 'trick' play that knotted the contest at 18-18. In that 1961 championship season, the Wildcats posted five shutouts and were helped by an undersized, 160-pound guard by the name of Jim Gillis.

There is a faded photograph of the team surrounding legendary coach Fred Bellissimo. Jon Fairfield, the team's 255 pound tackle, can be seen in the photograph, only his face visible under the right arm of Bowen. There are the smiles. There is the eye-black to guard against the sun-glare of the day. They were champions on this day almost 50 years ago.

What follows are Jack's words penned for the 'Wilmington Old Sports' book compiled with care by O'Reilly and sponsored by the Friends of the Wilmington Library and the Wilmington Historical Commission. Leave it to 'Scratch' O'Reilly to handle history so lovingly and with such class. We would expect nothing less from a man so truly in love with the history of Wilmington and its athletes.

Memories of the 60's

By Jack Bowen

Growing up as a 'Lake Kid' gave me the opportunity to enjoy sledding, skating, fishing, swimming and every type of sandlot ball imaginable in places like Pop's Hill, Silver Lake, Thompson's Grove, Neilson's and Eaton's Fields. Neighborhood kids would choose sides, keeping competition and fairness in mind. Our games didn't need 'soccer moms' or 'hockey dads' - we made and enforced our own rules with the help of our older brothers and sisters. Unfortunately,

Jack Bowen on a Power Sweep

Jack Bowen runs the vaunted Wilmington High School power sweep. The Wildcats of 1960 and 1961 won 17 games and Bowen was the Massachusetts Schoolboy Football scoring leader in that 1961 season.

Cookie Jar: Jack Bowen's Wilmington memories from the 60's

today's kids don't know what they're missing.

In junior high school, I met Joe Beaton, my first official coach. Each afternoon, coach Beaton would condition us and teach us how to block and tackle, then carry the football. Then we would scrimmage.

Our equipment was the high school hand-me-downs. Our football pants had what appeared to be quilted potholders sewn in for thigh and kneepads. Shoulder pads? One size fits all. We used leather helmets without facemasks. Coach Beaton must have gone home every afternoon after practice and had a good laugh. But, he always encouraged us and made everyone feel that we were improving each day.

Then the freshmen moved up to the varsity. Coach Fred Bellissimo was a hard-nosed 'in your face' guy, the most direct person that I had ever met. That is not to say that he didn't have a sense of humor and was not a fun guy to be around. When it came to football, he was known as 'Physical Fred' - the coach that we all knew and loved. He conditioned us to the point that no team could out-run, out-hit or out-tough us. Fred didn't do all of this alone. He had two of the best assistant coaches ever in Dick Keady and John Ritchie.

I would be remiss if I didn't mention two WHS faculty members-Vinnie Gallucci, my guidance counselor, and Mary Boutlier, head of the reading department. Without their efforts and support, it would have been difficult for me to achieve my dream of becoming a teacher and a coach.

Through athletics at Wilmington High School, we learned to deal with success and adversity. We learned to work together and support one another through teamwork. There would be no shortcuts to success, either on the field or in the classroom. We developed a healthy self confidence in who we were as young men and women.

John Ritchie was instrumental in having Lloyd Eaton, the University of Wyoming football coach, visit my parents' home and offer me a full four-year scholarship. John did me one better. During my sophomore year at Wyoming, I was 'red-shirted.' Within an hour, John was on the phone with me explaining the benefits of the extra year of eligibility. He told me to make the best of it-to work hard and things 'would work out for the best. John was right.

Jack Bowen would go on to have a successful career as a teacher. He was a husband, a father and a winner in life. He was a family man and a person to be respected and admired. He retired and says only that he did the right thing all along the way. His words resonant today when Wilmington's youngest athletes really need a role model coming from the 'old school' of what is good and right about playing a game. Jack Bowen's coaches and teachers would have expected nothing less from this 'Wilmington Old Sport.' No one should ever take such achievement lightly. No one should ever forget - especially today.

This is the first in a series of 'Wilmington Old Sports' columns. (Comments regarding this column can be sent to rcooke1717@yahoo.com).

they played a gutsy game. (Newburyport players Kyle LeBlanc and Joshua Williams) were tough to defend. I thought we did a better job in the second half, but we fumbled and then we didn't punch it in when we had the chance and that kind of hurt. I knew going in that this was their most athletic team, and they showed that with many outstanding athletes."

Wilmington ended the night with exactly 300 yards of total offense led by Hanley, who finished 12-for-23 for 101 yards, while Butters had 137 rushing yards, Frissore had three catches for 91 yards and Kevin Moriarty had 19 combined yards of offense including a 9-yard TD reception from Hanley on the team's opening drive.

Wilmington returns home for a Friday night contest against Pentucket Regional beginning at 7:00 pm. The Sachems are currently 1-0 in the CAL Large School Division and 4-2 overall, defeating Hamilton-Wenham (35-0), Newburyport (3-2, yes 3-2), Ipswich (34-6) and Amesbury (24-7), while losing its first two games both non-leaguers to Marblehead and Danvers.

Currently Wilmington, Pentucket and Masconomet are all 1-0 in the CAL Large School Conference standings with North Andover and Triton both 0-0.

Sausser and Cook among locals to finish Lowell Marathon

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Nearly 3,000 runners took on the rain and the snow early Sunday morning and participated in the 21st annual Bay State Marathon and Half Marathon held in Lowell. Among the 1,561 total runners in the marathon, 12 came from Tewksbury and Wilmington, and out of the 1,266 half marathon participants, seven came from the two local towns.

While a local runner didn't win either race, the combined 19 locals all put forth excellent showings at this once-a-year terrific event including Tewksbury's Brian McCarthy as the top local in the marathon, as the 36-year-old came in at 3:16.47, and Beth Cunningham, also of Tewksbury, was the top local finisher in the half marathon coming in at 1:36.41.

Brandon Newbould, who was raised in Alaska, won the marathon with a time of 2:27.53, and Kim Duclos of Worcester was the top finisher in the half marathon coming across the finish line at 1:20.58.

The marathon race started out in downtown Lowell right near the Boarding House Park on French Street. From there the runners moved to the Fr. Morissette Boulevard, onto Pawtucket Street, before advancing into Chelmsford and across the Tyngsboro Bridge, before circling back to Lowell and finishing up the 2.62 mile course with a jog from the third base side to the warning track in front of the Lowell Spinners' dugout on the first base side of LeLacheur Park.

Besides McCarthy, who finished in 219th overall place, four other local runners cracked the first 1,000 finishers including Wilmington's Paul Swaddle (3:30.49) and Brittany Sausser (3:45.12) coming before Tewksbury resident Carmela Tavares (3:45.15) and rounding it out with Wilmington resident Roberta Cook (3:51.44).

Three other Tewksbury residents completed the race with a great effort including Laurie Redmond (4:13.21), Donna Plachowicz (4:28.28) and Ronald Anderson (4:54.02) as well as four Wilmington residents Bob Danehy (4:18.10), Catherine Kane (4:25.17), Kevin Yetman (4:32.21) and Kristin Thompson (4:58.20).

Sara Donahue of Vermont was the top female finisher in the marathon race.

Turning to the half marathon race, Cunningham was the top finisher and he was followed by Michael Puleo of Tewksbury (97th place, 1:37.03), Trenton Hoyt of Wilmington (231st, 1:46.07), Tewksbury residents Lisa Maciel (301st, 1:49.28), Denise Illsley (581st, 2:00.18), Michael Vagos (802nd, 2:07.42) and Raju Datla (1,138th, 2:27.42).

Local resident moved from England

Quite the marathon trip for Swaddle

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

LOWELL - Ten years ago, Paul Swaddle's life was completely different than what it is today. Back in 1999, he was living in England, was single, and wasn't an avid runner. But today, he is living in the United States here in Wilmington, has a wife, two young children and just completed his sixth marathon.

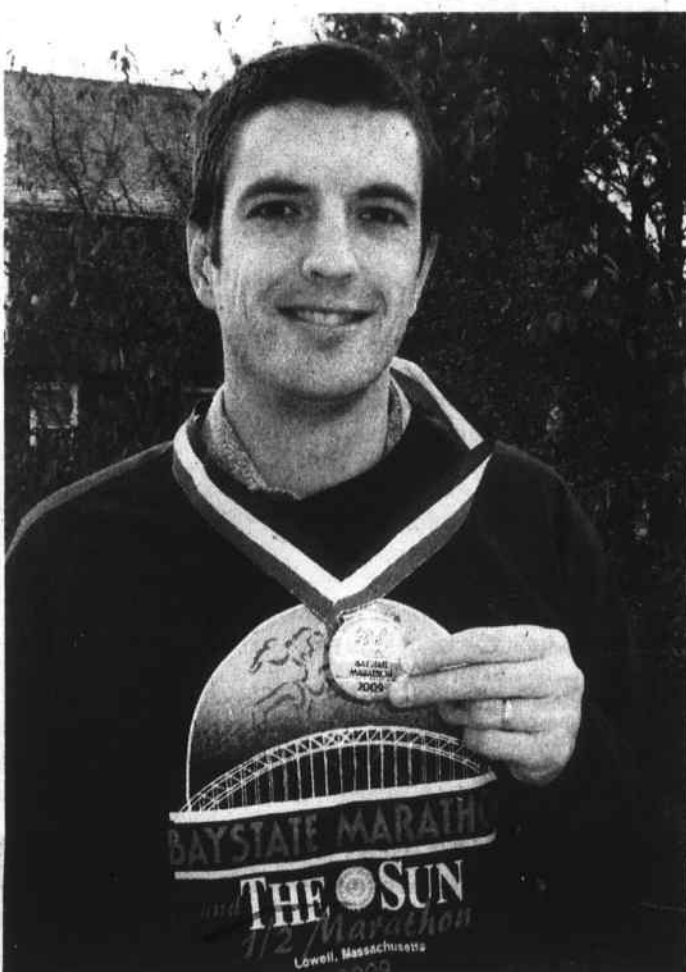

The 37-year-old was the top Wilmington resident to cross the finish line in the 21st annual Bay State Marathon held throughout the rain and snow on Sunday morning in downtown Lowell. He came in with a time of 3:29.50, which he said was just out-was back there in 2004 for Christmas, but with the kids, it makes it difficult to get back there."

Swaddle was asked about the differences between the two counties and paused for a moment.

"You'll have a hard time believing this but the people here are much friendlier," he said. "Back in the UK if you went out for a drink there would be a fight every single time. As long as I have been here in this country, whenever I'd go out for a drink, I have never seen a fight."

A few years after arriving in the United States, Swaddle said that through his friend, he started to become inter-side his personal best mark. Had the weather been a little bit better, he says, perhaps he could have cracked his best time of 3:27, which he did previously at the Philadelphia Marathon.

"It didn't snow until the afternoon, but I thought the weather was going to much worse than it actually was," he said. "The rain didn't get going until about 10 am and we all thought we were going to get much more rain, so it's difficult to say how important the weather conditions were. But without the cold layers on, I think I could have taken three or four minutes off of my time."

Swaddle said it was back in 1999 when he first started to think about moving to another country and coming here to the States.

"Back in 1999, I worked in the computer field," he said. "I had a friend who was over here for six months at the time and said there were jobs over here. At that time you were able to pick and choose jobs at will, not like today, so I came over here, met my wife two weeks later and the rest is history."

When he arrived in the States, Swaddle was living in Brighton, Mass., from 1999 to 2004, and he met his wife Jennifer just two weeks into his new stay while at the South Station tunnel. Now five years later, the two are married with two children, ages 4 and 2, and moved to Wilmington.

"I was meeting a friend who was coming in from New York and that's when I met (Jennifer)," he said. And asked about whether or not he would return to England, Swaddle said, "Nope it looks like I'm staying here. I was back there in for a funeral recently, and I ested in running and competing in road races.

"It's a time where you can just go and escape for a little while," he said about his hobby. "My friend had done a marathon and he asked me to do one, so in 2006 I did the Lowell (Bay State) half marathon, then I didn't do it in '07, and last year I did the Philadelphia Marathon. I've done six total (marathons)."

Although the weather was tough, Swaddle said the Bay State Marathon is one of the easiest courses to run in the area.

"The course itself isn't bad because it's very scenic around the river," he said. "But it's probably the fastest average time out of any course in the country because it's so flat. I think that's why so many people run this to qualify for Boston - but I didn't qualify. I was just hoping to beat my record and thought I could."

The race began at the Boarding House Park located on French Street in downtown Lowell. From there, Swaddle and the other 1,560 runners traveled to the Morissette Boulevard onto Pawtucket Street before hitting areas on Chelmsford and Tyngsboro, and circling back and finishing up in Lowell inside the LeLacheur Baseball Stadium.

"It was very nice to finish up in the stadium," said Swaddle. "You don't get to finish a marathon on a baseball field too often. But the worst part of it was after the race was over, climbing up and down those (stadium) stairs because once you stop running your legs freeze up. Then walking a mile to my car was really tough."

It's do-or-die time for Girls Soccer team

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It's been a very strange season for the Wilmington High School girls soccer team. The Wildcats started out 0-3-2, before winning their next three games, only to now go 0-2-4 over its last six games. That crazy back-and-forth swing has put the team at 3-5-6 overall, and now Wilmington has to win three of its last four games to in order to reach post season play once again.

"Yeah I definitely think we can do it," said head coach Sue Hendee. "I'm convinced that this team is going to make it to the tournament. We're too good of a team not to make it."

This past week really didn't show how good the team is, well in spurts it did. Last Wednesday, Wilmington came out very flat and were behind a subpar Pentucket team 3-0 in the first 20 minutes.

"That was one of the only times this season where we have come out flat and we were not ready to play," said Hendee. "We were down 3-0 just 20 minutes in."

Trailing 3-0 and being totally outplayed, Wilmington fought back and made it a great battle. Senior Kellyn Campbell scored right before the first half ended making it a 3-1 contest. Then after a much needed pep talk at halftime, Wilmington came out very strong in the second half, scoring a goal in the first 30 seconds before tying the game up at the 10-minute mark.

Pentucket scored the game winner on a breakaway coming with 13 minutes left in the game to pull out the win.

"We were truly dominating in the second half," said Hendee. "I think the girls showed a lot of character and heart coming back down 3-0. But I think the girls really learned a lesson that they needed to be ready and come to play every single game."

Senior Brittney McLaughlin scored the team's second and third goals, her first one was assisted by Kaitlyn Souza and the second one was unassisted. Senior Allie Robbins set up Campbell's goal in the first half.

Sarah Luz did a terrific job in net coming in midway through the first half and she made seven saves. Danielle Polcari and Allie Bleier played very well in the losing effort, said Hendee.

Two days later, Wilmington was defeated by Georgetown, 1-0. The Royals (9-1-1) scored with less than a minute to go in the game. Jackie Zarembo made 8 saves in net, and Bleier, Katelyn Hayes and Bryanne Mara all played exceptionally well.

On Monday, Wilmington continued to mount lots of pressure but still couldn't convert on the many chances it had to come away with yet another tie, this one to Hamilton-Wenham at 1-1.

"We had great opportunities to score but we didn't," said Hendee. "And you know the kids are working really hard, they are setting everything up and doing all the right things, but we just aren't finishing. We have moved people around because it seems like every game we have someone else out with an injury, but every team goes through that. I just think we could be a much different team having everyone healthy."

Hamilton-Wenham took a 1-0 lead, before Wilmington tied the game up in the 8th minute of the second half as Kaitlyn Souza headed in a long throw in by Mara.

With the score tied, Hamilton-Wenham had a couple of chances to score the game winner but Zarembo came up big.

"It was back-and-forth and Hamilton-Wenham had a few good chances to score late in the game," said Hendee. "They had a few breakaways because our defense got caught up playing too much on offense, and Jackie played the breakaways very well (to keep the game tied)."

Wilmington has four games left on the schedule facing Masconomet (8-2-1) on Thursday, followed by a home contest Monday night with Triton (4-7-2) before finishing it out with Amesbury (5-5-3) and Tewksbury (2-10-1).

Sloppy play by boys soccer team Wildcats qualify but take a few steps back

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Two days after qualifying for the state tournament for the fifth straight year and 9th time in the past 10 years under head coach Steve Scanlon, the Wilmington High School boys' soccer team played to a scoreless tie against Georgetown, a team clearly not as talented as the Wildcats.

Wilmington controlled play throughout the entire first half and couldn't finish multiple scoring chances, before playing a very subdued second half, without much energy and making countless number of mental and physical mistakes. Still, the scoreless tie coming after the 6-1 romp over Pentucket two days earlier.

"(It was very frustrating) because you're the better team and you had your chances early and sometimes you are just not there enough mentally," said Scanlon. "Spirit Week and all of that seems to be more important than coming and being ready for a game. We're not alone--(Georgetown) did it to Masco and North Andover, but North Andover stuck two goals in the last two minutes. So once you break it, you got them."

"But once your game plan is just to starve them off, it's tough. (Georgetown has) some big kids in the back and we insisted on playing long, and I don't think we played very smart. And that costs you. We were just lucky not to have given one up."

Wilmington had two golden chances to score in the first half, both by senior attacker Caleb Rogers, who nailed both posts, the right hand side in the early portion of the first half and then the left hand side when he had the goalie dead to right.

Wilmington had seven shots on net in the first half, and then put on six more in the second half. Two of the best chances came at the 20th minute mark of the second half and then in the 34th minute, the first coming with Rogers streaking in from the right side and with a lead on a fullback, his shot was saved by the goalie.

The last chance came on a long throw in from senior Michael Murphy, with the ball going to the back side of the net to teammate Nick Godzyk, whose header was going right into the left side of the net except the Royals' going made a terrific diving save to keep the game scoreless.

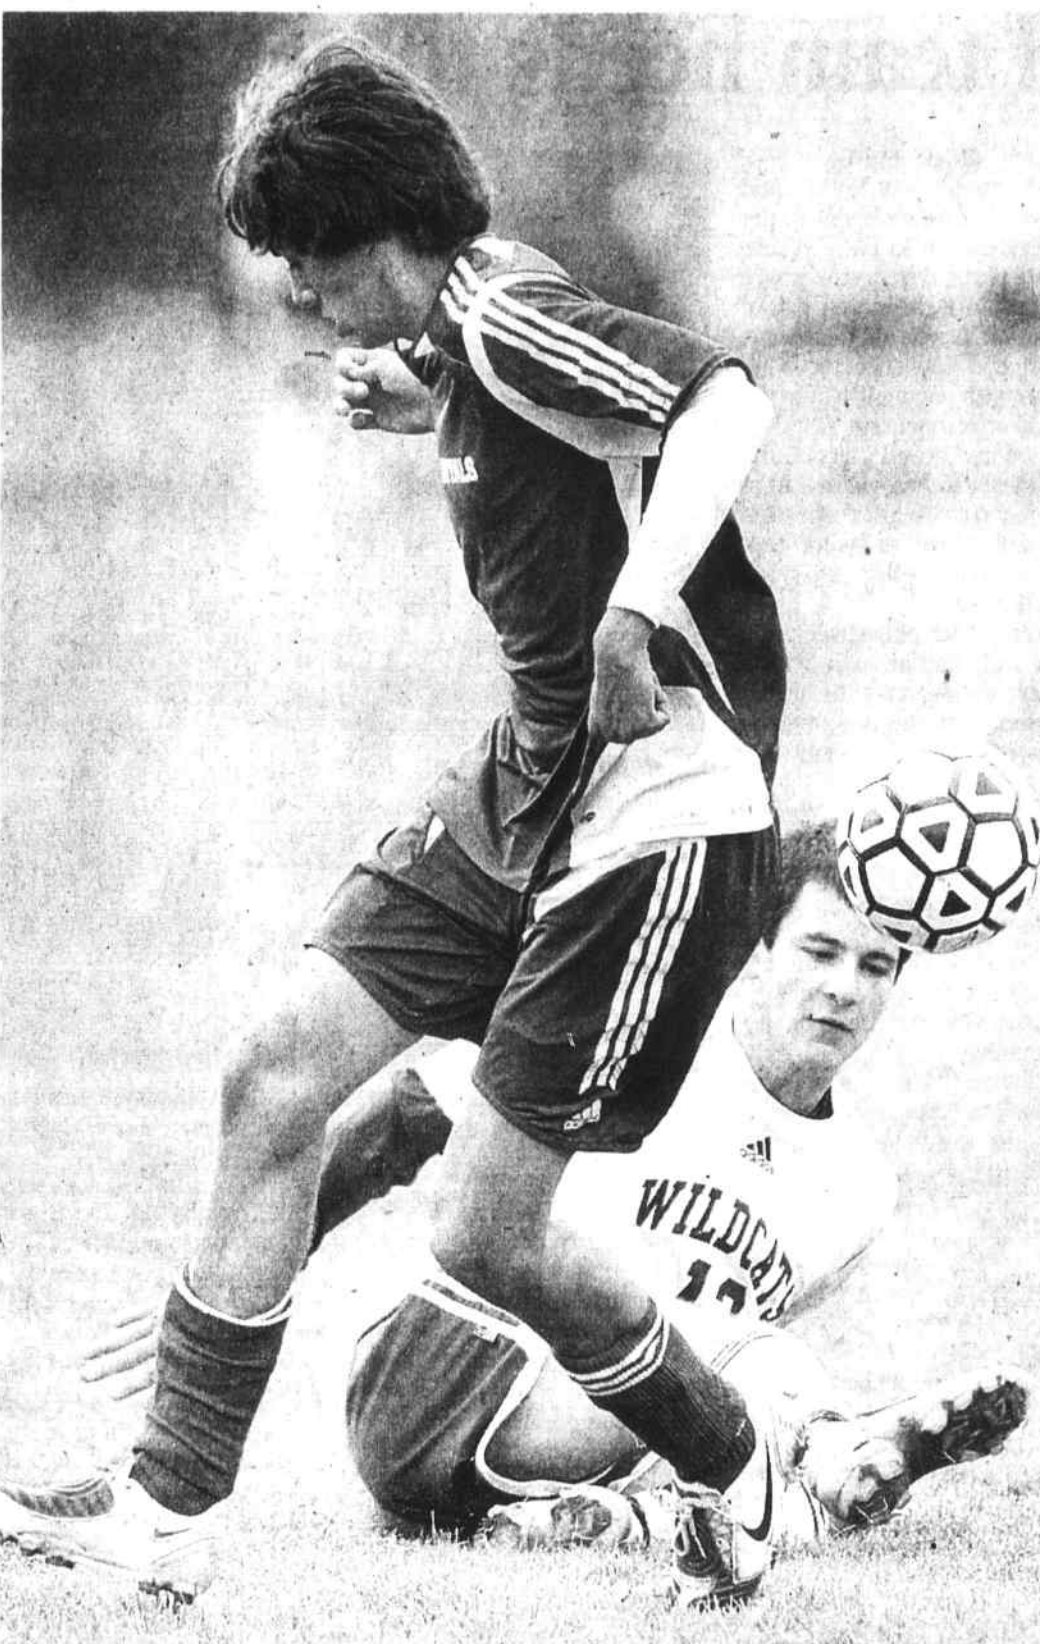

Wildcat goalie Marty Bamberg made 8 saves in the net to record the shut out.

Against Pentucket, Godzyk set up four of the team's goals, collecting four assists as the Wildcats trounced Pentucket, 6-1, with four of the team's goals coming in the second half. Andy Owens and Kevin Flaherty each had two goals, with Flaherty adding an assist.

DJ Livermore grabbed his first varsity goal and Murphy added the other tally. Shayne Kinsella and Jimmy Marra had single assists, while Bamberg and John Malone combined for two saves for the win.

On Tuesday Wilmington played a terrible first half before scoring all three of its goals in the second half to defeat Hamilton-Wenham, 3-0, to improve to 9-0-3 overall.

DJ Livermore, Gott Saenchandi and Caleb Rogers scored the goals, while, Michael Murphy and Saenchandi had single assists. Marty Bamberg made two saves for the shut out victory.

Wilmington High junior Andy Owens tries to get up off the ground and looks for the loose ball while fighting off a Georgetown player during the team's Cape Ann League game Friday afternoon at the North Intermediate School. Owens and the rest of the team currently have an 9-0-3 record. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

Wilmington is back in action with a huge contest at home Thursday night against Masconomet, followed by a road game on Saturday afternoon with North Reading, and then another bus ride on Monday with a trip to Byfield to face the much improved Triton Vikings.

The Wildcats were defeated by Masco in last year's state tournament in an exciting overtime game.

'Cats score five times to beat Masco

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

The hot streak continued for the Wilmington High School Varsity Field Hockey team this past week as the Wildcats dumped highly touted Masconomet, 5-3, and then tied Amesbury 2-2.

Wilmington is now 9-2-3 overall.

Wilmington came out on fire in the first half of last Thursday's game against Masco scoring all five goals. Danielle Sughrie scored twice, while Sam Palermo, Hayley Robarge and Shelley Sullivan scored the goals.

"It was a good game," said head coach Jodi MacKenzie. "Masco didn't stop playing (even though it was 5-1 at halftime) for a moment. They continued to work hard which is what kept my girls on their toes."

Nicole Luz was taken out of the net as her knee continued to give her problems and Lisamarie DiOrio was able to get some varsity minutes and shots under her belt. MacKenzie added that Christi Bush saved a couple of possible goals by Masco, and Jacqui Lyman continued her phenomenal season as a defender.

"We dominated (almost) the entire game, but the second half got a little scary (when Masco scored the game's next two goals)," said MacKenzie.

Volleyball team needs to net a few more victories

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High volleyball team picked up a pair of wins this past week, improving their record on the season to 6-9 overall and keeping alive their hopes for a state tournament bid with four matches remaining on the season.

It will not be easy for the Wildcats to qualify for the tournament, as two of their final four matches are against Cape Ann League powers North Reading and North Andover, but the 3-1 victories over both Salem last Thursday and Revere on Monday have given them a chance and that is all they can ask for at this point in the season.

In the win over Salem last Thursday, the Wildcats came out on top by scores of 25-23, 25-20, 18-25, 25-21.

"We played pretty well," coach Mark Staffier said. "We were a little up and down, but we were able to get everybody in to play. There were parts of the game where we could have played better, and that is one of the things that has happened to us all year with playing down to the level of competition.

Playing well for the Wildcats in the victory were junior outside hitter Amanda Keane as well as senior captain and setter Amanda Hollenbeck.

"They both played very well for us," Staffier said. "As a team we were a little inconsistent, but the two of them played well throughout the match."

Against Revere on Monday at home the victory came by scores of 25-16, 25-22, 23-25, 25-17. In the one set they lost, the Wildcats trailed by a score of 17-4 at one point, but fought their way back into the match before finally succumbing.

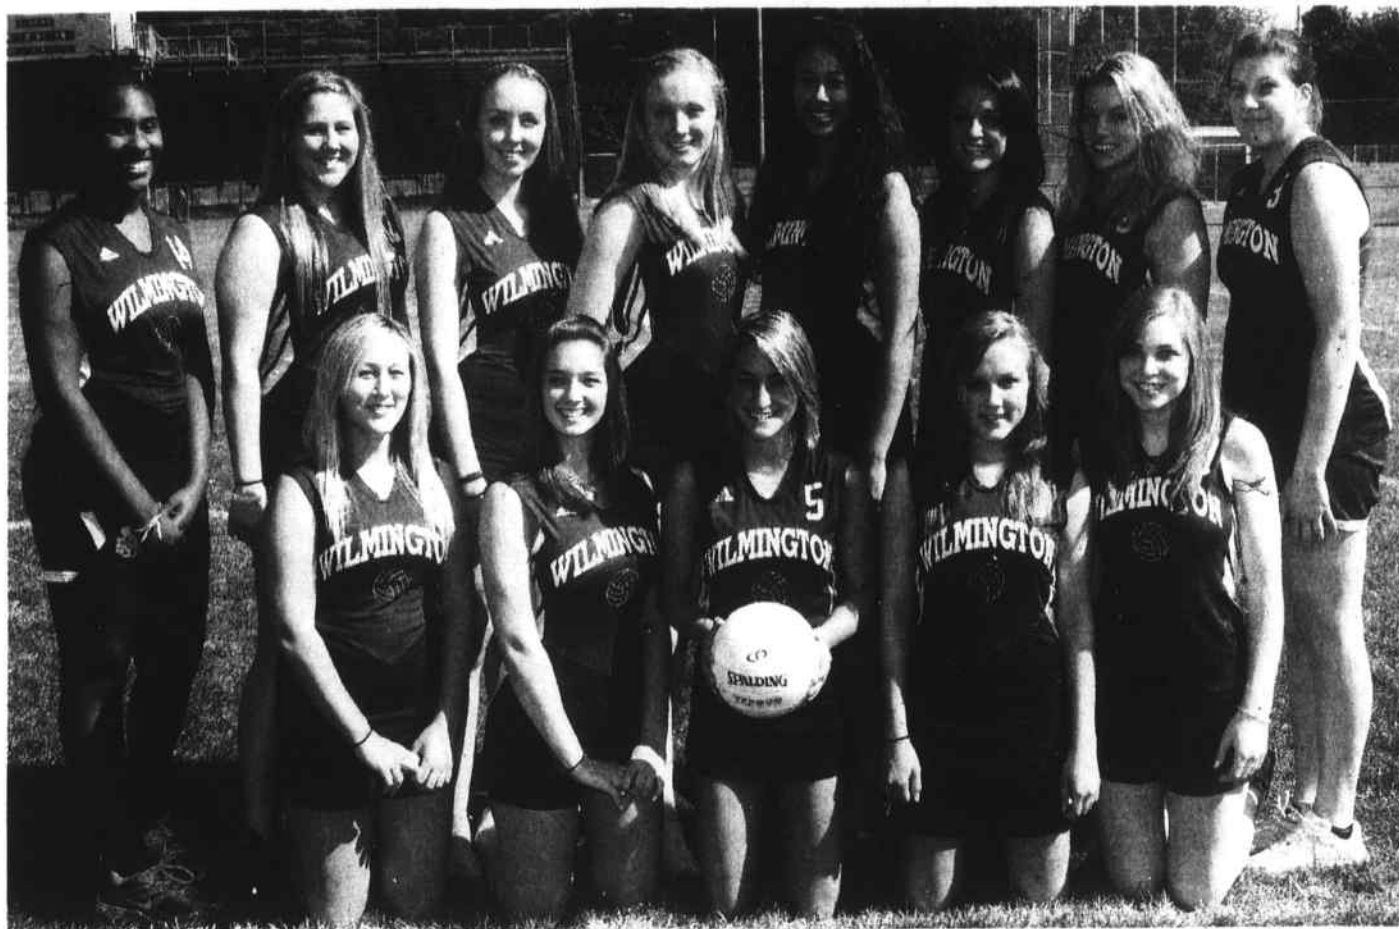

"I don't know what happened in that game, I guess it is just the inconsistency we have been showing," Staffier said.

"But we bounced back and played well in the fourth set."

Keane once again played well as did Katie Aoki and Stephanie Kelly.

The Wildcats will continue their season on Wednesday against CAL leading North Reading, a team that Wilmington actually played very tough the last time they met despite the 3-0 final. Two of the three sets were very close, which is actually quite the accomplishment considering the way that North Reading has been routing teams this season on their way to a 15-0 record.

"We played them tough in the second and third sets the last time," Staffier said. "Not only are they 15-0, Peabody is the only team that has taken even one game from them all year."

While qualifying for the tournament remains the goal, it will be a tough task considering the competition this week. Staffier will be happy if he sees his team playing at their best regardless if they win or lose.

"We are still looking for more consistency. I think Wednesday and Friday will be tell tale," Staffier said.

"The tournament aside, if we just play our best I will be happy. If we play at our best I would love to win one of them if not both."

Golfers ready to tee off playoff season

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High golf team has already accomplished their preseason goal of qualifying for the state tournament, wrapping up their berth over a week ago when they improved their record at the time to 7-4.

The Wildcats have struggled a bit down the stretch, dropping their final three matches of the season this past week, but they will still be heading to the tournament for the first time since the 2005 season, and in at least one of their matches this week the Wildcats showed that they are definitely ready to take on the best in the state.

Last Tuesday afternoon at Hillview Country Club the Wildcats hosted a Masconomet team that had lost only one Cape Ann League match all season, and put quite a score into the league champs before bowing by a score of 172-161.

Wilmington was led by 34 points from sophomore Dalton Rowley and 30 from junior Andrew Spurr. Junior Adam Martinello added 25 in the losing cause for the locals, who matched their season high point total with their 161.

"That was probably our best match since I have been coach here," said fourth year head coach Steve Lynch. "Not just because of the points, but because it was very cold and windy, probably the worst I have seen and we still pulled such a great score. Top to bottom we played great."

Thursday against North Andover did not go as well for the Wildcats as they dropped a 174-124 decision to another CAL power, this time being severely affected by the harsh weather conditions.

"Not to make excuses because the weather was the same for both teams, but it was bad," Lynch said. "The wind was really whipping. When your top scorer gets 24 points you know you are in for a long day."

"It was not our best performance," Lynch added. "It was a long course and it was a tough course for our kids to play on. Obviously we did not play well."

As Lynch alluded to, the top scorer for the Wildcats was Spurr with 24 points, followed by senior captain Nick Boutoures with 23 and senior Aubrey Ungvarsky with 20.

The Wildcats played better this Tuesday, but still came up on the short end of a 174-140 decision at the hands of Hamilton-Wenham at Myopia Country Club. Boutoures led the way with 31 points while junior Jon Keogh had 30 points for the Wildcats while Spurr chipped in 28.

The Wildcats will now shift their focus to the post season, beginning with the CAL Open on Thursday at Far Corners. Wilmington will be sending two representatives to the match with Spurr and Boutoures having earned the spots.

"I think we can have a better showing than we have the past couple of years," Lynch said. "Spurr has been our number one all year and has been playing fantastic. He has earned his spot, as has Nick, who is our team captain and has been in our top two all year long."

Next Monday, the Wildcats will compete in the Division 2 state tournament which will be held on their home course at Hillview. It will be a step up in competition for the Wildcats who played primarily a Division 3 schedule during the regular season, but and the players are looking forward to the challenge.

"The kids are excited to play in the tournament and to play on their home course, which should help them out," Lynch said. "We will be facing some very competitive teams, but I think we can do well."

Papageorgiou named NE-10 Keeper of the Week

Wilmington's Vinny Papageorgiou was named the Northeast-10 Conference Goalkeeper of the Week for his performance on the Franklin Pierce soccer team. The sophomore posted a record of 2-0-0 for the Ravens, who are riding a five match unbeaten streak.

Papageorgiou had six saves in a 2-1 win over American International on Tuesday. He had two saves in a 5-0 shutout over Saint Rose.

Papageorgiou has started in all 10 games he has played in this season. He raised his overall record to 7-2-1 with the victories last week. He has recorded five shutouts on the year.

Last year Pat Cullity and the Vermont hockey team suffered a devastating loss to Boston University in the NCAA Frozen Four semifinals, but the senior defenseman from Tewksbury is doing all he can to make a return.

Cullity scored the first goal of his career in a 5-4 loss to No. 1 Denver last Friday in Vermont's first game of the regular season. Denver scored three unanswered goals in the third period to rally for the victory. However, the following night the Catamounts defeated Denver 6-4, with Cullity assisting on the team's fifth goal.

Cullity, an assistant captain, had his second assist on Saturday in a 4-1 win over Boston College in the Hockey East opener for both teams. Cullity has started all three of his team's games this year.

The Catamounts are currently ranked 11th in the country. They travel to Merrimack on Friday.

The UMass Lowell women's soccer team set a Division II record for consecutive shutout minutes in a 3-0 win over Connecticut State University, and three local players have played a major part. Tewksbury's Colleen Fitzpatrick assisted on the team's first goal, while Wilmington's Brianne Bozzella scored the team's second goal. Wilmington's Kathleen Strazzere, a defenseman, helped ensure the shutout.

The River Hawks are ranked 19th in the country and boast a record of 11-2-3 and have an unbeaten streak of 14 matches. They have not conceded a goal in 1,232 minutes.

Tewksbury's Sammy Macy was named the Northeast-10 Player of the Week for the second time this year after another strong week for the UMass Lowell field hockey team. Macy finished the week with four goals and an assist for nine points over the two-game stretch.

Macy is averaging 7.07 shots per game, 3.00 points per game and 1.29 goals per game, all of which are best NE-10. She had her seventh game-winning goal of the year on Saturday as the No. 5 River Hawks defeated Franklin Pierce 3-2.

Macy and the River Hawks improved their record to 14-3, 6-2 in conference. They return to action on Wednesday in their last home game of the year when they host Bentley University.

Paula Bartalamia scored a pair of goals, including the game-winner, as the Fitchburg State field hockey team edged passed Nichols College 2-1 last Thursday.

The Tewksbury native, a senior forward on the team, notched her first goal in the first minute of the game. She scored her second goal in the 27th minute. The win snapped Nichols' 13-game win streak.

Bartalamia leads the team with nine goals. She is also the team leader in points (21) and game-winning goals (4). The Falcons play host to Westfield State on Wednesday.

Vicky Wong helped lead the UMass Lowell women's volleyball team to a 3-1 win over Southern Connecticut State on Saturday. The Tewksbury junior had 16 kills and 17 digs in the game, both which were tops on the team. Wong had five kills and seven digs in the fourth set.

Two Tewksbury High graduates competed for the UMass-Lowell cross-country in the New England Championship on Saturday at Franklin Park in Boston. Junior Sarah Bonomo finished the 5K course in 13th place with a time of 19:36. Freshman Nicole Skotz placed 189th with a time of 20:24. Bonomo placed third on the team while Skotz placed fifth.

Chris Byrne had three tackles for the Northeastern Football team, but the Huskies remained winless on the year after falling to William & Mary 34-14 last Saturday at Parsons Field in

Senior striker reaches century mark

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

There are very few athletes who can say they have done something that no one else has ever done, but Shawsheen Tech senior soccer star Jenn Carroll is now among that elite group. The Wilmington native, a forward for the Lady Rams, recently notched her 100th career point, becoming the first player in the history of the girls program to reach the century mark.

The point came on an assist late in last Tuesday's 4-0 win over Chelsea, but Carroll didn't even realize she had made history.

"Honestly I did not know it at the time," Carroll said. "I thought I was getting close, but I did not know I had made it until my grandfather read it in the paper. I was very excited once I found out. It was a great feeling especially since no girl has ever done it before. To do it in my senior year when we are having such a great season is great. To accomplish something like that with the team playing so well (is something that) I will always have."

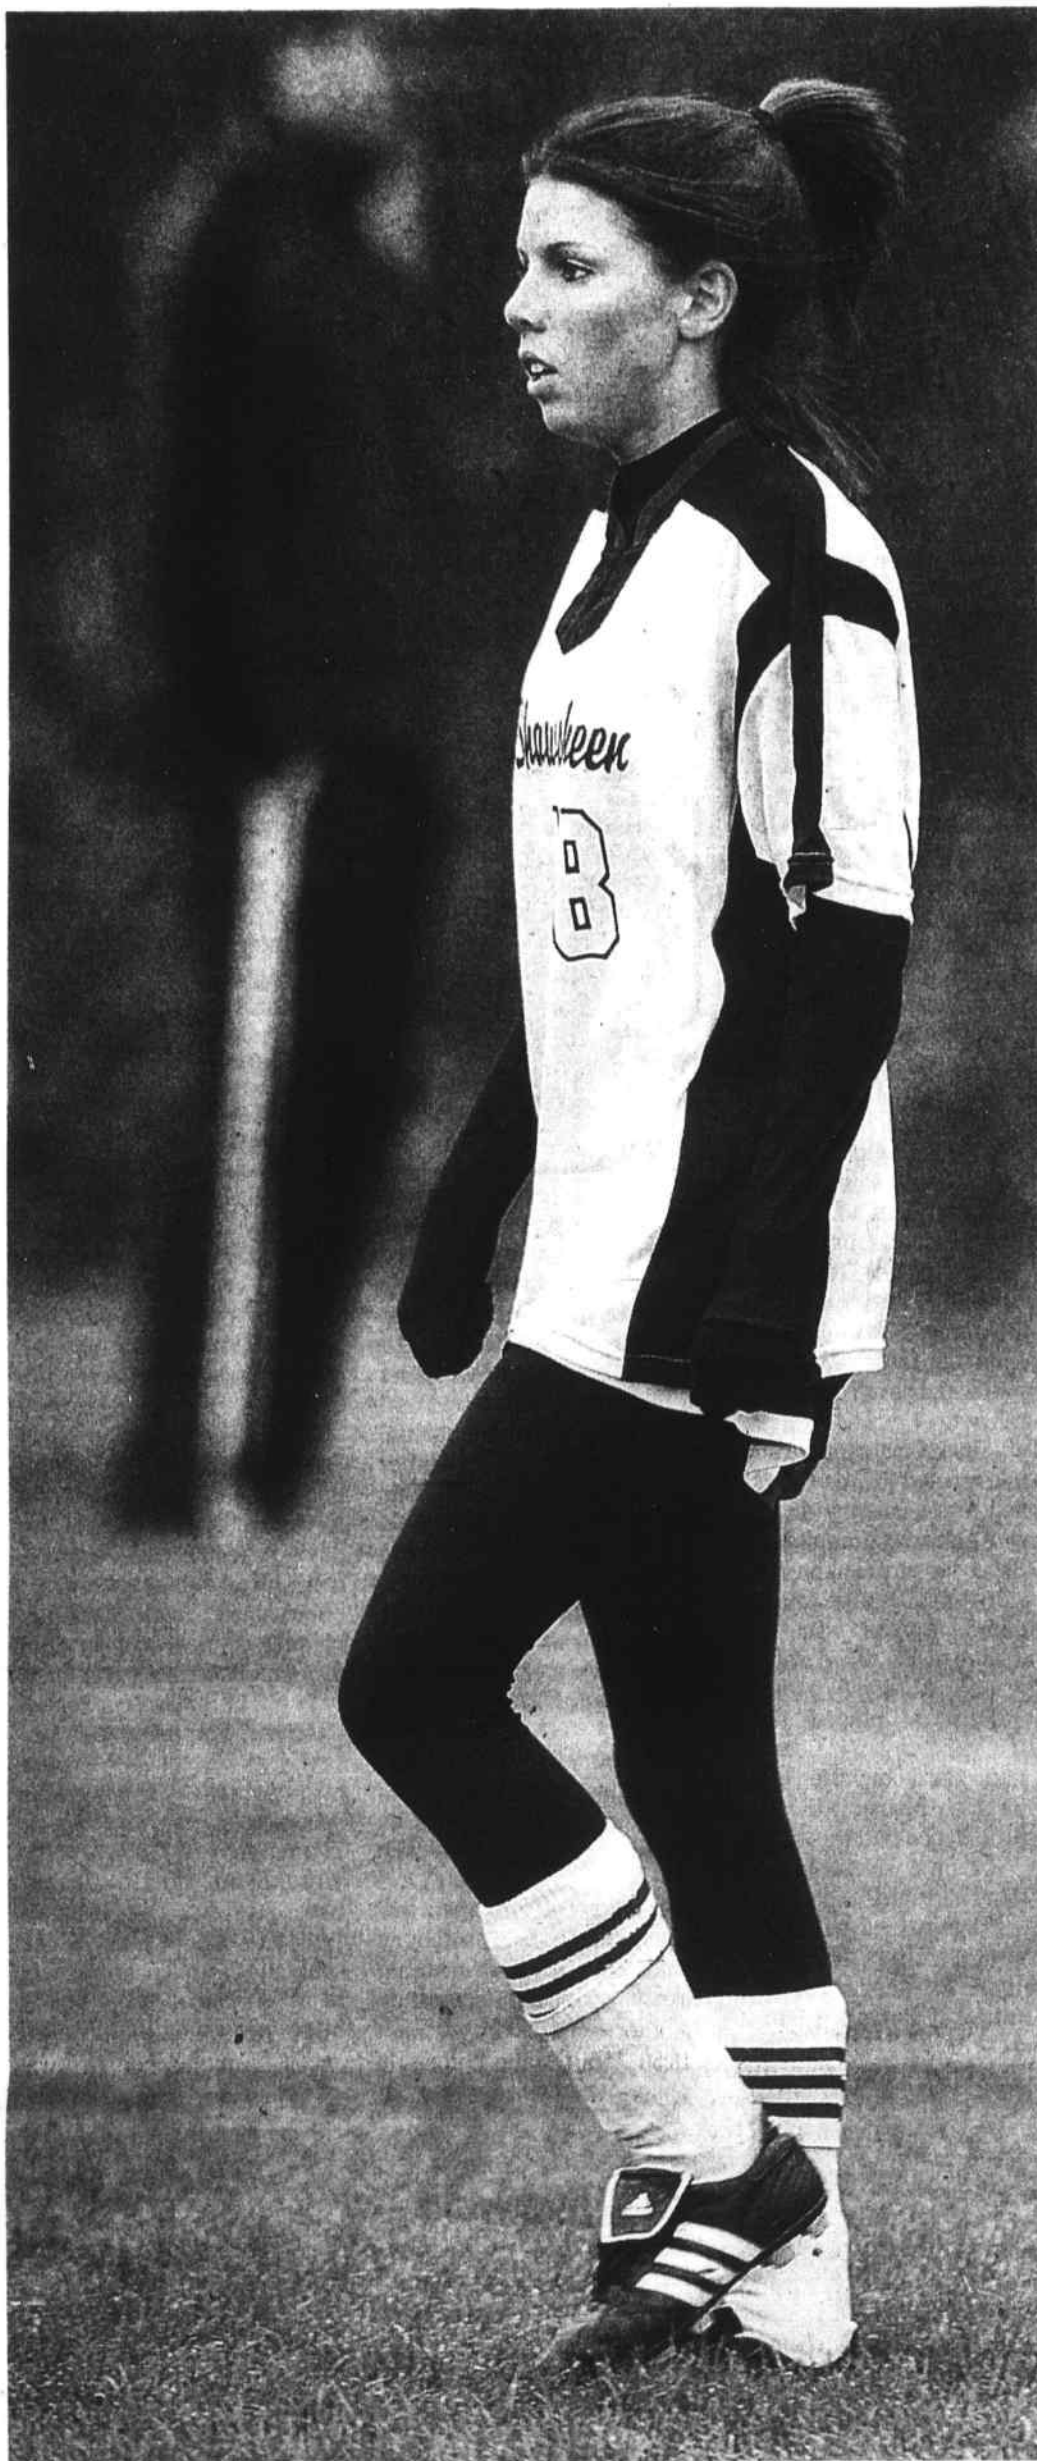

As great as Carroll felt and should feel about her individual accomplishment, it is the success of her team this season that has her most excited. The Lady Rams are off to a 13-1 start on the season, including a big 3-1 victory over MVC contender Billerica earlier this season, and have clinched at least a share of their second consecutive CAC title. With Carroll and fellow forward and co-captain Jenna Zechner leading the way, Shawsheen looks like they may be a force to be reckoned with come tournament time this season.

"I think we can do well in the tournament," Carroll said. "We all have a positive attitude and feel like we are having a great season and we can go further in the tournament than we have in the past."

Any success Shawsheen does have in the post season, including the state vocational tournament where they are two time defending champions, will obviously be based in large part of the play of Carroll, who may be having the best season of her brilliant career this season, with 16 goals and 7 assists, which is tops in the CAC. For her career, she now has 74 goals and 30 assists for 104 points.

If the team needs to depend on Carroll to come up big in the playoffs that will be just fine with coach Doug Michaud, who has grown accustomed to seeing great things from her. Right from her first practice as a freshman, she has stood out and that has not changed as she approaches the end of her senior year.

"She has really been the heart of the team for four years. She made such an impression on me when she started because it was also my first year as coach," Michaud said. "I remember our first scrimmage, she scored a bunch of goals and I was like, is she really just a freshman? And then in our first real game she scored something like four goals. She was a spark right from the beginning."

Carroll prepared for her varsity debut on the fields of Wilmington Youth Soccer, playing every weekend at the Shawsheen School like so many other young kids in the town. But unlike so many other kids, she was able to see her career truly flourish once she reached the high school level. Carroll scored over 20 points as just a freshman surprising even herself with her quick success.

"I knew it would be harder to play against seniors and some very good players, but once I got on the field I just kind of got used to it," Carroll said.

And while Carroll has been a team leader of sorts all along due to her obvious talents, it was not until this year that she was officially named co-captain along with Zechner and it is a role she has adapted to very easily according to Michaud.

"She fit right into it," Michaud said. "Kids have been looking up to her right from the start. On the last day of school last year, she along with Jenna and the other seniors set up summer practices and kept that going all summer. The kids have been really excited about this season since the summer and she is a huge part of that."

For Carroll, becoming captain of the team was a responsibility she took on happily and she understands that more than ever her teammates will be looking to her for leadership. But she also knows that she is certainly not alone in helping to do what is best for the team.

"It is good to be a leader, but I also want to hear everyone else's opinion," Carroll said. "Jenna and I work together so before we do something we always talk it out. It is good to have everyone looking up to you, but it is more responsibility and you know you need to be setting a good example."

Carroll has certainly been setting a good example for the team both as a role model and as a point producer. Michaud says that the determination that makes her a great captain due to her effort, is one of the qualities that also make her a great goal scorer.

"She is quick. She's got that drive for the net and once she gets into that last part of the field she is just driven to get that ball into the net and she will not quit until she gets it done," Michaud said. "She is also one of the few players who will follow up if someone else shoots and does not score. Her effort will a lot of times get her a big goal."

One thing Shawsheen fans can definitely count on for the rest of the season is Jenn Carroll adding to her very impressive three-digit milestone.

Rams Football team falls to 2-4 with loss to Northeast

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

WAKEFIELD -It's been a rough couple of weeks for the Shawsheen Tech football team. After suffering a heartbreaking 28-27 loss to Chelsea two weeks ago, the Rams were looking for redemption when they traveled to Wakefield to take on CAC Upper Division rival Northeast Metro Tech on Saturday afternoon for their league opener. Instead, the Rams ran smack into a hard running Northeast squad whose exceptional play on the day was enough for the 22-13 win, and improving to 2-4 on the season.

Despite playing well at times, particularly in the first half the Rams could not overcome the multi-pronged rushing attack of the Golden Knights, who piled up 166 yards on the ground on the day behind five different running backs, and eventually wore down the Rams in the second half with their powerful attack, controlling the clock and building on what had been a 16-7 halftime lead.

With the loss, the Rams dropped to 2-4 overall and 0-1 in the CAC Upper, while Northeast improved to 2-4 (1-0).

"Northeast is a good, physical football team," Shawsheen Tech coach Al Costabile said. "As the game wore on they really took over the line of scrimmage in the second half."

Costabile was absolutely right, as Northeast began to control the ball more and more as the game wore on, but they also got off to a quick start to put the Rams in an immediate hole. After taking the opening kickoff, the Golden Knights marched 66 yards on eight plays, capping the drive when backup quarterback Christian O'Leary entered the game and ran in a quarterback sneak from one yard out with 8:22 left in the first quarter. Starting quarterback Danato DiPietranto ran in the two point conversion for an 8-0 lead.

Making the opening score even more frustrating and ultimately even more costly for Shawsheen was that the Rams appeared to have the Golden Knights stopped for a loss on a third and goal play from the nine yard line, but personal foul facemask penalty gave Northeast a fresh set of downs from the four yard line and they took advantage to jump on top.

Shawsheen came right back however, putting together an eight play, 51 yard drive with senior running back Cory Foss (16 carries, 90 yards) carrying on every play and eventually scoring on a one yard run with 4:52 left in the quarter. When Nick Danas of Wilmington added the extra point the Rams had pulled to within 8-7.

After holding Northeast on their next drive, the Rams had a chance to take the lead, marching from their 30 all the way down to the Northeast eight yard line, with the key plays being a 27 yard pass from Tewksbury's Kevin White (11-18, 156 yards) to fellow Tewksbury resident Bob Greenwood (3 catches, 49 yards) and an 18 yard hookup from White to Foss to give the Rams first and goal at the 10 yard line but, the eight was as far as they would get and Danas' 25 yard field goal attempt sailed wide right.

After the miss, Northeast took over on the 20 yard line and proceeded to go on a 12 play drive to extend their lead when Bobby Novello ran in a touchdown from eight yards out with 1:42 left in the half. Novello also converted the two point conversion for the 16-7 lead.

Despite trailing by nine points the Rams were still very much in the game at halftime and the feeling among the Shawsheen rooters in the visiting stands was very positive that their team would come back and ultimately win the game.

The Shawsheen players appeared to feel the same way, as they came out in the third quarter with a renewed sense of determination, taking the opening kickoff and marching from their 45 yard line down to the Northeast 15, but the drive stalled after an illegal procedure penalty dropped them back to the 20, and then on fourth down from the 10 yard line, quarterback Kevin White of Tewksbury was sacked for an eight yard loss.

The next drive for Northeast was the clincher, as they marched 82 yards on 19 plays and chewed up over 10 minutes of game clock in the process. Northeast took possession with 6:18 left in the first quarter and by the time AJ Ortiz caught a nine yard touchdown pass to cap the drive, only 6:47 remained in the game and the score was 22-7 after the failed two point conversion.

"That was a huge drive," Costabile said. "We just could not stop them and that was a big score to extend the lead."

The Rams did fight back, and very quickly, with one more score when White connected with tight end Derek Bent for an 18 yard scoring pass with 5:08 left in the game. The two point conversion failed, however, with Foss hauling in White's pass, but coming up just inches short of the goal line, and that was as close as the Rams would come.

"Northeast has been waiting a long time to beat us and they earned it," Costabile said. "This game gives us, something to build on because I thought at times we were able to move the ball effectively and establish some rhythm."

Now, we've got to get back at it," Costabile added. "We have lost two in a row, but this is when a team has to pick itself up. We showed at the beginning of the year that we can do it when we lost our first two and then won two in a row and now we have to do it again."

The Rams will look to get back on track on Saturday afternoon at Shawsheen when they host defending CAC champion Whittier who will bring an undefeated record into Samuel J. Cassidy Field.

Whittier has yet to be held under 30 points in any of their games this season, with quarterback Dillon Ryan throwing 15 touchdown passes on the season, nine of them to Steve Surette while Donald Leighton and Ralph Hancock have caught three each.

Shawsheen Tech Sports Round-Up

Rams Girls Soccer team takes second straight league title

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech girls soccer team wrapped up at least a share of their second consecutive CAC Upper Division title this past week, picking up two more wins to improve their overall season record to 13-1 while also maintaining a perfect league mark of 10-0.

The Lady Rams most recent win came on Monday with a 5-1 triumph at CAC rival Greater Lowell. It was an important victory, as the Gryphons were the closest team to Shawsheen in the standings, and the only team left with a possibility of passing them in the standings, but the Lady Rams ended any thoughts of that with the dominating victory.

"It's great to win the league again," Shawsheen coach Doug Michaud said. "I did not want to walk into the season expecting to win it because when you expect something like that it is not going to happen, but I definitely felt like on paper we were the best team and the kids went out and proved it."

Shawsheen jumped right on top of Greater Lowell in this one, scoring two goals in the first six minutes of the game with Amanda Vance contributing to both goals scoring the first and assisting on the second.

"Amanda tries to prove herself in every game," Michaud said. "At the start of the season she did not try out very well so I had her as a floater between varsity and JV. She was upset by that, but since then she has stepped up her game and been a big contributor for us."

Speaking of big contributors for the Lady Rams, it was leading scorer Jenn Carroll of Wilmington who scored the second goal of the game with an assist from Vance. It was the 16th goal of the season and 74th in the career of Carroll who recently became the first girls soccer player in the history of the Shawsheen program to record 100 points in her career.

Carroll also added the Lady Rams third goal of the game, about ten minutes into the second half to make the score 3-0.

Sophomore Jen Curtis got the win in net for Shawsheen, making 18 saves.

In their previous game last Thursday at home against Northeast the Lady Rams had a much easier time of it than they did with Greater Lowell. Although the score was only 5-0, they completely dominated the game, to the point where Curtis did not face a shot the entire game.

Carroll scored a pair of goals in the win, while co-captain Jenna Zechner added a goal along with Marissa Irwin and freshman Arianna Medeiros of Tewksbury.

The Lady Rams will look to clinch the title outright on Thursday afternoon when they play host to CAC rival Mystic Valley and they will follow that up with their stiffest test of the season, a non-league tilt with North Reading at home.

Shawsheen has already defeated non-league rival Billerica earlier this season by a score of 3-1, and Michaud knows that North Reading will be an even bigger challenge.

"It's definitely going to be a good match with North Reading. I am looking forward to it and the girls are looking forward to it," Michaud said. "It will be a challenging game for us. It's a little different than Billerica because we knew a little about them going in. We really do not know much about North Reading at all except that they are a good team."

Volleyball

After a very busy four match week the week before, the Shawsheen volleyball team had a much lighter workload this week with only two matches. It was also a much more successful week for the Lady Rams who, after struggling with a 1-3 record the week before, rolled to a pair of 3-0 victories in both matches, over North Shore on Thursday at home, and a road victory over Northeast on Tuesday.

Shawsheen earned the North Shore victory by scores of 25-12, 25-12, 25-9, and dominated Northeast in similar fashion by scores of 25-14, 25-11 and 25-9. The Northeast victory was huge for the Lady Rams as it improved their record on the season to 10-5 overall and qualified them for the Division 3 state tournament for the fourth consecutive season.

The North Shore win of course was also big, as it got the Lady Rams back on the right track, and while North Shore will clearly not be the best team the Lady Rams face this season, coach Chet Flynn says they did provide a challenge for his team and he was pleased to see his team improve their play from the previous week.

"North Shore was a team that if we got a little sloppy against they could have kept it much closer," Flynn said. "There was a lot of great hustle on that team. They actually took Greater Lawrence to 25-20 in their third game against them."

Due to Shawsheen jumping out to quick leads in each game, Flynn was able to get playing time for many players who do not always see regular time and several took advantage of their opportunity, including Megan Healey.

"Megan was very strong defensively for us and she was very vocal on the court," Flynn said. "When you are playing three or four subs who have not played together a lot you need that and she did it for us."

One player who does see a lot of playing time is co-captain Amy DeCelles and she also played very well in the win for Shawsheen.

"Sometimes we will switch Amy out as a server, but in this match she stepped up and did a great job for us with seven service points," Flynn said.

The schedule gets a little tougher for Shawsheen this week, first with a home tilt against CAC rival Greater Lawrence, who handed the Lady Rams a 3-0 defeat earlier this season, followed by former CAC rival Nashoba Tech, who will bring a 15-1 record into the match with their only loss coming to Shawsheen back in late September.

"I really think both matches will provide good tests for us as we get ready for the tournament," Flynn said. "I really feel like we have improved since the last time we faced Greater Lawrence."

Cross Country

Both the boys and girls cross country teams wrapped up remarkable CAC seasons this past week, competing in the CAC Championship Meet in Danvers last Wednesday. Both teams had finished undefeated dual meet seasons with the girls posting perfect 9-0 mark, while the boys had been an unblemished 8-0.

In the league meet, the boys remained perfect with a victory behind the efforts of four runners finishing in the top 13 spots. Senior captain Bjorn Hansen was the top finisher for Shawsheen, grabbing a fifth place overall finish in a time of 18:03 over the 3.1 mile course, while Dan Boudreau finished seventh overall in 18:43 and Anthony Finn was ninth in 18:50. Matt Mann helped the Shawsheen cause with a 13th place finish in 19:08, while Richard Silk was 23rd.

The boys finished with 57 points overall to easily outdistance second place Mystic Valley who finished with 83.

The girls also had a great effort in the league meet, but came up just short of repeating as league meet champs, falling by one point to PMA finished with 62 points to edge the Lady Rams 63. Johanne Legrand was the top finisher for the Lady Rams in a time of 22:34, while Alyssa Mooney of Tewksbury was third overall in a time of 22:44. Tewksbury's Abby Pinard finished third for Shawsheen and 11th overall in a time of 24:09. Amanda Leonard was 22nd in 26:00 while Grace Brogan was 25th in 26:18.

Boys Soccer

The Shawsheen boys soccer team had a successful week, going 1-0-2 in their three matches, earning an impressive 1-1 tie with CAC rival Lynn Tech last Wednesday, followed by a 2-1 win over Minuteman on Friday and wrapping up their week with a 2-2 tie against Greater Lowell on Monday of this week.

The Rams record now stands at 6-4-1 overall as they inch closer to wrapping up a state tournament bid.

In the tie with Lynn Tech, the Rams got the tying goal from senior Mike O'Connell with about 20 minutes left in the game. Lynn Tech had beaten the Rams by a 4-1 score in their meeting earlier this season. Senior goalie Alex Perez made nine saves for the win.

Perez was even better against Minuteman with 21 saves, with sophomore forward Sal Nicco Ripar scoring the game winning goal with just seven minutes left on an assist from O'Connell. Mike Turk had scored the first goal of the game for Shawsheen. Mark Sarro, Jonathan Davidson and Alex Turk also played well for Shawsheen.

In the 2-2 tie with Greater Lowell, the Rams rallied from a 2-0 halftime deficit behind goals from O'Connell and Nick Shaheen. Mike Turk and Kris Galdi assisted on the goals for the Rams. Perez made 12 saves in this one, while Jon Davidson, Sean Plunkett, Marc Sarro and Brian Gallagher all played well for the Rams.

Golf

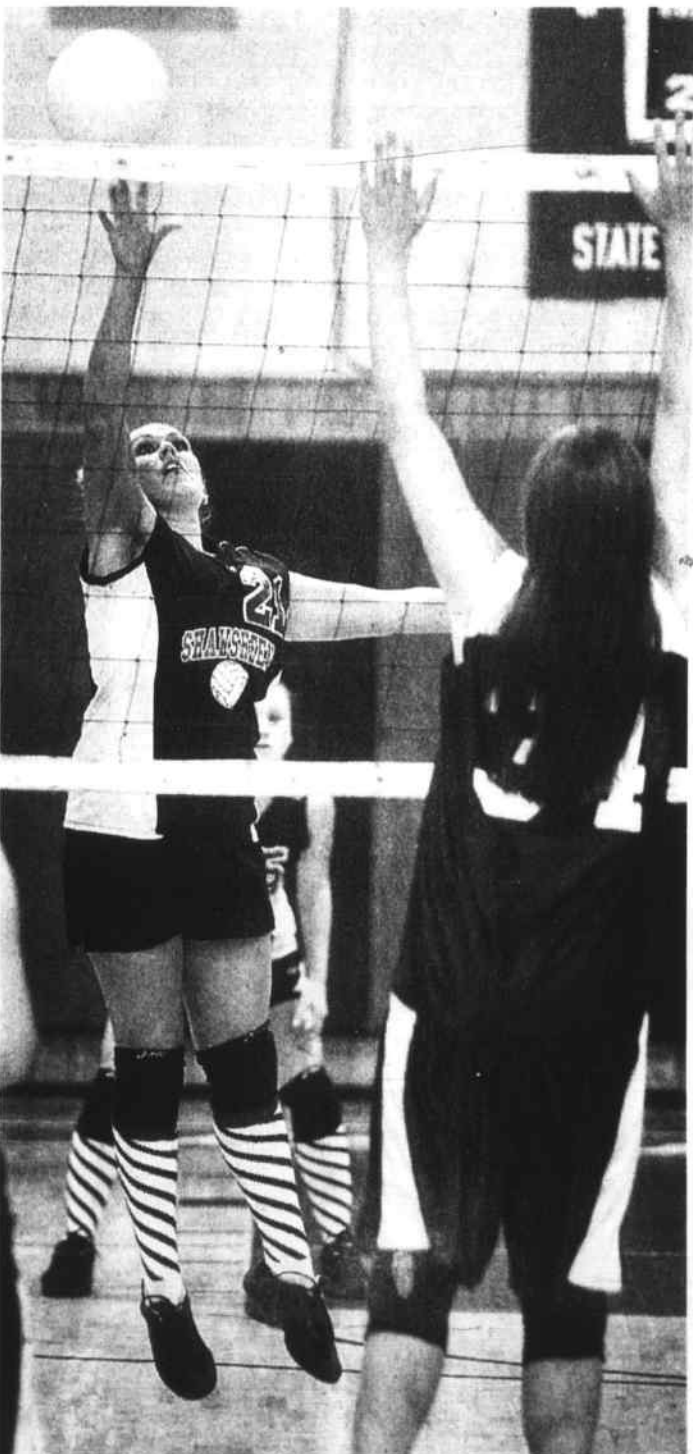

After wrapping up the regular season Colonial Athletic League title a week ago with a perfect 10-0 record, the Shawsheen golf team did not let up on their assault on the rest of the league in their first year in the new league, winning the CAL championship at Gardner Municipal Golf Course on Tuesday afternoon.

The Rams were led by senior captain Brett Fredrickson who shot an 81 over 18 holes to finish as the overall medalist. But Fredrickson was hardly the only star for the Rams, as all five of their players finished in the top 12 to earn medals.

Sophomore Chris Clayton was the runner-up, shooting an 82, while juniors Dan Jacobs and Chris Deacetis shot rounds of 87 to tie for 9th. Sophomore Stephen Murphy shot an 89 to complete the Rams scoring in 12th place.

Redmen cross country teams edged out

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Last year the Tewksbury Memorial High School boys cross country team finished with just one win, coming against Billerica. In that meet, the Indians had ten place finishers in front of Tewksbury's fifth, but the Redmen still came away with the victory.

Last Wednesday, the boys came into their tri-meet against Haverhill and Lowell with a 2-4 record and the team almost tripled its win total from last year to this year, but came just one point short. Tewksbury was defeated by both squads, Lowell (15-50) and Haverhill (28-29).

"It was a tough loss to Haverhill," said head coach Peter Molloy. "We seem to have the better program from top to bottom, however their first four guys were just a hair better than ours today. It's heartbreaking when you put eight kids in front of their fifth. But at the same time, we remember our only win last year came against Billerica, despite them putting ten guys in front of our fifth. Overall though I think the boys could've run a little better and a lot more competitively."

In the three team meet, Jeff Oberg finished first for Tewksbury and 9th overall at 15:32. Kevin Maciel was next coming in 14th at 16:23, and after him Tewksbury had 8 of the next 11 runners, including Craig Tino (17th, 16:33), Sean Foley (18th, 16:50), Sean Carriker (19th, 16:52), Kip Horahan (20th, 16:58), Brian Amaral (21st, 16:58), Brian Gugger (23rd, 17:06) and Trace Salvato (25th, 17:25).

Turning to the girls team, they were defeated by both Lowell (25-32) and Haverhill (21-36) in two tough battles against two very good teams. Tewksbury is now 5-3 on the season with the two losses.

"The loss to Lowell meant they clinched the MVC Division 2 crown so that's tough for us," said Molloy. "While I'm disappointed in the loss, I must admit that I'm happy for Lowell's coach MaryBeth McKinney. She is a close friend of mine and I am truly happy for her and her team. It seems like Lowell has caught a couple of good freshmen classes as their top four runners are all underclassmen. Her team is going to be competitive for a while."

Ashley Toland, Emily Parker and Laura Patriarca finished 7th, 8th and 9th within three seconds of each other starting at 18:07. Christina Dick was 13th and she came in at 18:36, followed by Kelsey Parker (17th, 19:57), Rachel Hepler (18th, 20:47) and Sarah Parker (20th, 21:09) to round out the meet's top 20 runners.

"We placed nine girls in front of Lowell's fifth runner," said Molloy. "But like the Haverhill Boys, Lowell's top four runners were better than our top four. It's hard to be disappointed in our girls team though. Our top five girls ran faster today than any TMHS girl has over the past five years."

WHS Round-Up

Girls Cross Country team makes it six wins on the season

On Monday, Wilmington trailed Amesbury, 1-0, before the Wildcats scored before the first half ended and in the opening ten minutes of the second half to take a 2-1 lead.

"The girls started off sloppy, but were able to pick it up and began looking like themselves. Unfortunately Amesbury was looking to beat us, and they came back stronger."

The Indians were able to get on the board one more time to tie the game up. That tally came in the final minute of the game.

"It was a good shot but it probably should have been called back because it went over our goalie's head," said

MacKenzie. "It was an upsetting tie. We should have had the win."

Sughrue and Sullivan scored the goals, while Sullivan and Christina Wilson picked up the assists.

Cross Country

The WHS Girls Cross Country team swept Newburyport (22-34) and Triton (28-30) pushing their record to 6-3, an incredible accomplishment considering the team lost so many top runners from last year, and currently have a team with just two seniors on it.

"It was a real group effort," said head coach Tom Bradley of the double win. "As all of our top seven needed to beat Triton. They had the top two place finishers, but Sydnee Russo took a close third at 20:16 which prevented Triton from closing out the match and getting the win."

Besides Russo, Bradley said Amy Fisher put forth a great effort to take sixth overall at 21:11, followed by Jess Burke, Rachel Alaltalo, Michelle Barnes and Lori Fletcher, who all finished ahead of Triton's fifth runner to secure the victory for Wilmington.

"It was a very satisfying day for the girls," said Bradley.

Turning to the boys, they were defeated by Newburyport, 15-50, and Triton, 24-35.

"Newburyport is undefeated and it's obvious why," said Bradley. "They had the first eight finishers."

Zack Sears was the top performer for Wilmington coming in at 17:23 and he was followed by Stephen Halas (17:39), Jake Russo (18:11), Tom Valente (18:56), John Weber (20:24), Andrew LaRosa (20:43) and then two freshmen Andrew Sears and Ryan Kennedy, who were three seconds apart at 20:53 and 20:56.

"Both Andrew and Ryan show great promise for the future," said Bradley.

Wilmington Pop Warner weekend wrap-up

Wilmington Pop Warner's A-team had to battle two tough opponents this past Sunday, the Saugus Schems and the weather. Despite poor footing, a slick football, and multiple turnovers, the Wildcats won the intense defensive struggle 7-0.

On the Schems' opening drive, the Wildcat defensive line including Ben Gillis, Aaron Harrington, Avery Woodbury, and Connor Bennett shut down attempts to run up the middle. On fourth down and six yards to go, Saugus tried a sweep to the right, but discovered that running outside would be just as difficult, as linebackers Scott Gilbert and Austin Ferreira teamed up to bring down the runner after only a one-yard gain. But Saugus would get the ball back on a fumble the very next play, putting the pressure right back on the Wildcat defense.

Once again however, the defense held. Linemen including Shaughn Hiltz, Nick Woods, Deshon Reddick, John Irizarry, Ryan Adams, and Jack Willette combined all game long to stop runs between the tackles. Saugus was forced to attempt another sweep. This time it was cornerback Max Fielding who tackled the running back for a loss leaving them facing a fourth down with 11 yards to go.

Making big fourth down stops would become a theme throughout the game for the stingy Wildcat defense as linebacker Ryan Broderick intercepted the Saugus pass attempt and returned it 60 yards for a touchdown. The touchdown was called back due to penalty, but the "pick" was good.

The A-team's offense logged two first downs behind the tough running of Matt Penney and a 12-yard sweep left by Ryan Carrocino. The drive stalled on back-to-back fumbles, bringing Connor Townsend in who kicked a high, 30-yard punt to put some breathing room between Saugus and the Wilmington end zone.

Three plays later the Schems found themselves facing fourth and long, and again their pass attempt was intercepted - this time by Townsend. And again, the Schems got the ball back on a turnover the very next play with the ball inside the Wilmington 10 yard line. The Wildcat defense dug in and stopped the drive with a smothering team tackle on a fourth-and-one running play.

The offense finally found their rhythm as the offensive line including Nick Cimaglia, Steven Parrot, drove the Schem defense backwards providing Shaughn Hiltz with room to gain extra yards on successive quarterback sneaks.

The snow and mud contributed to more wet-ball turnovers, and the defense continued to get the ball back to the offense. The QB sneaks up the middle opened up opportunities for backs Fielding, Hiltz, Penney, and Carrocino to successfully sweep the outside. Late in the fourth quarter from the two yard line, behind a huge push by the offensive line, Ryan Carrocino ran another QB sneak for the only touchdown of the game. The drive ended with a short pass to Connor Bennett, who dove into the end zone for the one-point conversion.

With the clock ticking down, Saugus had another opportunity but could not mount a drive against the Wildcat defense.

Pee Wee I

The Wilmington Pop Warner Pee Wee I team posted a dominating 32-0 victory in the rain against Saugus on Sunday at Town Hall Field.

The Wildcat offense scored four touchdowns, while the defense earned its second shutout of the season and also scored a touchdown.

Playing in their last home game of the year, the Wildcats got off to a good start when Scotty Newton recovered a Saugus fumble at Wilmington 35-yard line. Running back Charlie Minghella soon took off on a 65-yard touchdown run, and Connor Robinson kicked a perfect extra point, giving Wilmington an early 8-0 lead.

The Wildcat defense pushed Saugus backwards on the next possession. Mike Stanford made a fourth-down tackle that gave the ball back to the offense at the Saugus 38-yard line. However, the Wildcats could not capitalize on the chance because of a fumble.

Early in the second quarter, Saugus had a decent drive going before the Wildcat defense buckled down. Newton made a fourth-down tackle and Wilmington took over. Minghella was off to the races again, running 60 yards for his second touchdown of the game and seventh of the season to give Wilmington a 14-0 advantage.

The Wildcat defense was stingy again, as a tackle for a loss by Tyler DeJesus stopped Saugus near midfield. Newton had a 26-yard run followed by a 10-yard rush that put Wilmington deep into Saugus territory late in the first half, but the Wildcats couldn't beat the clock in time for another score.

Early in the second half, Wilmington extended their lead to 20-0 with Newton gaining most of the yardage during the scoring drive. His 39-yard run brought the ball to the Saugus 6-yard line. He eventually scored on a one-yard run for his second touchdown of the year.

A sack by Stanford on Saugus' next drive helped quickly get the ball back for Wilmington. The offense also struck quickly, with Sam Jennings taking a hand-off and going 23 yards for a touchdown and a 26-0 lead.

With the game well in hand, the Wilmington "White" defense played most of the fourth quarter and came up with some big plays. Danny Woods intercepted a pass and went 43 yards the other way for a touchdown that gave Wilmington a 32-0 lead. On the defensive line, Robert Peterson had a tackle for no gain and Jack Sweeney put pressure on the Saugus quarterback.

The game was a total team effort, as everyone came off the field dirty after playing in the rain and mud. Also making a difference for the Wildcats were Nick Ford, Tommy Robarge, Chance Harper, Matt Hersom, Zach Ahlin, Mike Daley, Graham Smith, Anthony Celata, Bryan Domek, Mike Feyler, Brendan Daly, Connor MacKenzie, Sean Devlin, Justin Fraser, Richie Ellen, and Brandon Belmonte.

With two games remaining, the Wildcats have a 3-3 record overall with a chance for a winning season. They play next week at Burlington.

El Mighty Mites

This week co-captains Tyler and Matt Thomas represented the Wildcats Sunday against the Saugus Schems. Winning the coin toss, Wilmington receives and Bailey Smith returns the ball to the 45 yard line. On first down, quarterback Andrew Sullivan hands the ball to Cameron Martin who found the hole and ran it in for the touchdown. The extra point attempt was no good, the score 6-0.

Robarge, Bailey Smith and Dillon McCarthy) came out on the field. On the 1st down, Smith gained a couple of yards. The second and third downs, Martin made great attempts. Then, fourth down on the keeper, Sullivan came within a yard of the first down.

Saugus offense took over possession. On the first down, David Fraser made the big tackle. On second down, Saugus was taken down by Wildcats defensive House. Third down, Kenyon came in for another fine tackle. On fourth down, Saugus was taken down by the House again.

Wilmington took possession on the 20 yard line continued to move the ball up the field when Sullivan pitched the ball to Martin who ran in for his second touchdown making the score 12-0.

Saugus took possession around the 40 yard line. More great big tackles by Alex Boehm, Sullivan, Kenyon, Companschi, and Fraser forced Saugus to give possession back to Wilmington. On the first down, Sullivan handed the ball to Kincaid for a nice run. Second down, Martin ran the ball gaining two yards on the play. This time on the third down, Martin got the ball and ran it in for his third touchdown of the day. The extra point was no good leaving the score 18-0.

The weather is miserable; it's raining and the wind has picked up. Saugus took possession at the 45 yard line. On first down, the Wildcat defense (M. Thomas, T. Thomas, Kullman, Fraser, Rooney, Boehm, Gilbert, Kincaid, Robarge, Smith and McCarthy) does not faultier in spite of these poor playing conditions and continued to be a solid house of brick. On second down Kenyon broke through the line and made the big tackle pushing Saugus back. On third and fourth downs, Saugus tried to run the ball outside again with no luck, getting caught by Companschi again.

The Wildcats first down was on the 35 yard line. On second down, Sullivan gained a couple of yards on the keeper. On third down, Smith tried to find the hole. It's fourth down, Sullivan handed the ball to Companschi for a 15 yard run making it first down. Dillon McCarthy made a good run and gained a couple of yards. On second down, Cameron Gilbert got a couple of more yards. On third down, Smith had two more yards and on fourth down, Sullivan kept the ball coming within inches of the first down.

Saugus offense came out on the field. There was no gain on the 1st down. Feeling all the pressure of the Wildcats defense they decide to throw the ball and Bailey Smith made a great interception. The Mighty Mites offense came out once again, this time with quarterback Christian Robarge. Robarge handed the ball to Dillon McCarthy a couple of times and tried to make the 1st down.

Saugus and Wilmington continue to battle up and down the field. With minutes left of the game Robarge handed the ball to Dillon McCarthy who ran the ball into the end zone for the fourth touchdown of the game; the extra point was no good making the score 24-0. With two minutes left of the game, Saugus has their last possession and is completely shut down by Wilmington's defense.

Throughout the game, the Mighty Mites worked very hard, tried out new positions, gave great support to each other and displayed awesome teamwork. The Mighty Mites would like to thank their coaches, parents, family and friends, along with the El Cheerleaders for all their cheering and support. Next weeks game is against Burlington at 8:00 a.m. at Burlington High School.

Under 12-2 Boys advance to finals

Wilmington U12 Boys Soccer Team Make It to the Finals at the 27th Annual Columbus Day Tournament in North Andover

It was a very chilly fall weekend at the soccer field as the Wilmington U12-2 Boys soccer team made a run for the championship title in North Andover.

The Wildcats took on Haverhill, Dracut, and two North Andover teams before making the finals on Columbus Day.

Late Saturday afternoon, the boys took the field for their first game against Haverhill. Justin Ekstrom defended the net in the first half of the game and Josh Buske defended the net for the second half. Nick Haddad scored two goals and David Silveira scored one goal with one assist. Quintin DiStefano also had an assist ending up with a 3-2 victory over Haverhill.

Sunday afternoon the Wildcats returned to the field for a battle against the North Andover Red Thunder. Nick Haddad was in net and defended a scoreless first half. Will Mills scored both goals of the game assisted by Quintin DiStefano and David Silveira. Daniel Judkins defended the net for the second half and The Wildcats won the game 2-1.

Had it not been for the stellar defensive performance where the Wildcats were determined to "stop the attacks", the result might have been different.

Game 2 on Sunday was against the Dracut A-Team. Justin Ekstrom played keeper for the first half and Josh Buske was in net for the second half. Zach McCulley scored two goals in the game. The first goal was assisted by Ian Beauregard and the second was assisted by Danny Roderman. The final score was 2-1. Having gone undefeated, the Wildcats had won their bracket and clenched a playoff spot.

The Wildcats returned to the frost covered field early Columbus Day morning to take on the North Andover Arsenal in the semi-finals. Again, the defense and keepers were outstanding. Nick Haddad was in net for the first half and Alex Fischer was in net for the second half.

Danny Roderman scored one goal and one assist, Will Mills and Zach McCulley combined for five more goals with Zach scoring the first hat trick of the season. Assists were also made by Daniel Judkins, Russell Abbott and Alex Fischer. The Wildcats won 6-1 over the Arsenal taking them to the finals.

The Wildcats faced the North Andover Red Thunder again in the final. This time, however, they would face a more determined team who set out to take back the game they had previously lost to Wilmington. The result was a -0 loss leaving the Wildcats to take second place over all in the tournament.

The Wildcats played high quality and smart soccer combining for passes, moving off the ball, constantly communicating, winning 50/50 balls and covering for each other.

Girls Under 14-2 team takes tourney title

The Wilmington GU14-2 team had a great Columbus Day weekend of soccer coming away with the North Andover Tournament Championship!

The girls were on fire during the preliminary rounds knocking off Swampscott, Amesbury and Andover without allowing a goal. Swampscott was first up and proved to be a tough competitor. Michelle Alonardo scored early for the Wildcats as they took a 1-0 lead into halftime.

The defensive end of the field was strong in this one as Kelly Hartsough, Adrianna Kippenberger, Meghan Sullivan, Michelina Brown and Kerry Ryan showed that they had come to play. Pressley Silva dominated the attacking end of the field in the second half scoring two goals leading the team to a 3-0 victory.

Amesbury was next up. This game was nearly identical to the first game as Michelle once again scored a first half goal followed by scoring drives from Heather Benson and Olivia Dello Russo in half number two. Midfield play was the strength in this one as Alyssa Cieplik, Amanda Richards, Christina D'Ambrosio, Katherine McKenna and Emily Mckenna pushed the pace of the game with strong through balls and tough defending.

A young Andover team became victim number three for the Wildcats. This game was all about scoring. Ashleigh Howland opened the scoring with a rebound of her own penalty kick. Ashleigh had two additional scores to give her the "hat trick".

An "own" goal by Andover increased the lead and then Adrianna Kippenberger wowed the crowd with a 25-yard drive into the top corner of the net. Emily Bamberg got in on the act late in the game to finish off the scoring and the 6-0 victory.

Monday morning, the Wildcats awoke to thirty five degree temperatures and frost on the pitch for their semi-final match with North Andover. Former Wilmington residents - Coach Mike McFadden and his daughter Katherine led the North Andover Knightmares into the semi-final match.

The Knightmares were no match for the Wildcats as the girls continued to roll. Shauna Mazzie played a nice ball into open space and Michelle Alonardo got the 'cats scoring going early. This was followed almost immediately by a Pressley Silva score off a Christina D'Ambrosio throw-in.

After a great hustle play by Katherine McKenna, Adrianna fired a direct free kick into the back of the net for a 3-nil lead. Ashleigh collected her fifth goal of the tournament to make it 4-nil and the girls were onto the Division finals!

The Wildcats went up against a very strong Haverhill team in the finals.

The game began with several Haverhill rushes which were thwarted by Nicole Potner in net. Eventually, Haverhill was able to push one across the line and the girls were staring at their first deficit of the tournament.

Down 1-0 at halftime, the girls regrouped and came out with a vengeance. Ashleigh scored the tying strike less than two minutes into the second half on a muffed ball by the goal keeper. Shortly thereafter, the girls regained the lead on a Pressley Silva redirect and never looked back. Final score, Wilmington 2-1 over Haverhill.

The defense was immense all weekend allowing only one goal. The goalkeeper trio of Heather Benson, Nicole Potner and Michelle Alonardo were outstanding in net the entire tournament making save after save and igniting the offense with great punts.

Sign up for the Kids fitness challenge

The Massachusetts Amateur Sports Foundation has opened registration for the 2009 fall edition of the Kids Fitness Challenge. Principals, physical education and health teachers at elementary and middle schools across the commonwealth are encouraged to sign up to take part in the Challenge as valuable cash grants will be awarded to selected participating schools.

In April, almost 10,000 kids from schools across the commonwealth took part in the spring edition of the Kids Fitness Challenge. Along with the more than 13,000 students who participated in the fall edition of the Challenge in 2008, in excess of 23,000 kids learned the lessons of a healthy, active lifestyle last school year through the Challenge. Hundreds of schools from all regions of Massachusetts have taken advantage of the program, making it a true state-wide event.

The Kids Fitness Challenge, presented by the Bay State Games with contributing funds from the Boston Bruins Foundation, is a free program designed exclusively for Massachusetts elementary and middle school students. Participating schools and students engage in a 30 minute segment of physical activity from November 16-20. After the schools complete their activity with 100 percent student participation and have contacted the Bay State Games office, each will be entered into a drawing to win one of four $500 grants. The grant is awarded to the winning school to support health and physical education programs.

Since November of 2006, the Kids Fitness Challenge has attracted nearly 75,000 elementary and middle school students with $10,000 in cash grants distributed to participating schools.

To register, to receive a brochure or for more general information about the Kids Fitness Challenge, please visit www.baystategames.org, call the Bay State Games office at (781) 932-6555 or e-mail Peter Cohenno at peter@baystategames.org.

Changing a country one child at a time

El Hogar Ministries holds a 5k walk around Winchester Sunday, October 25

By RYAN LAROCHE

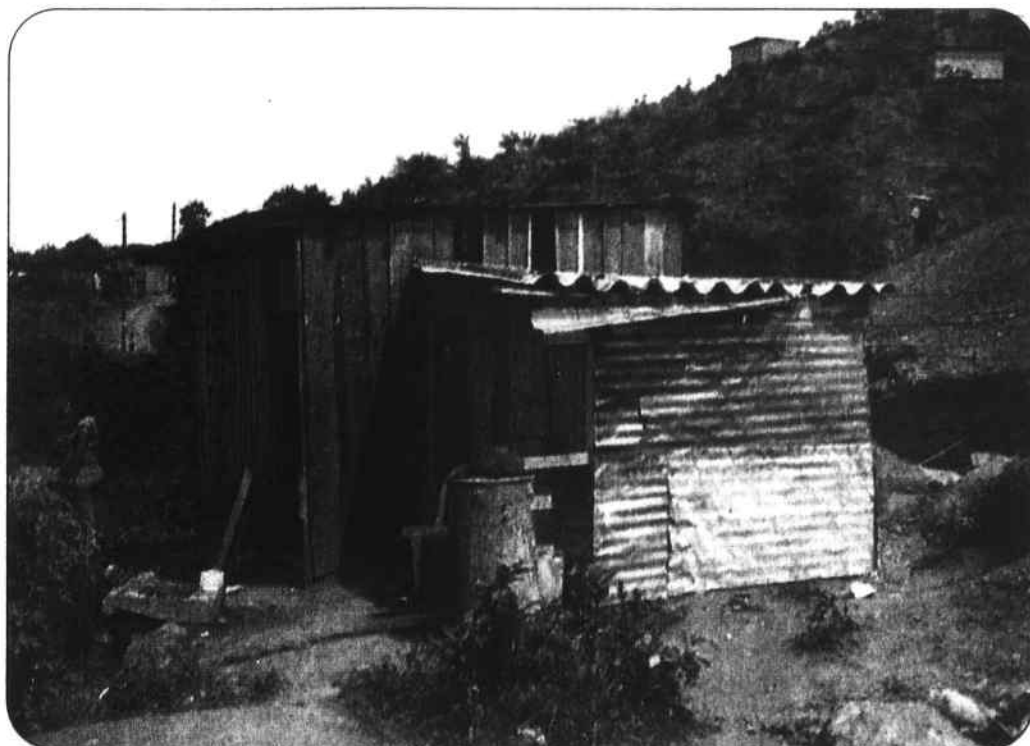

WINCHESTER - Many kids hate school. They see it as a boring waste of time. They hate homework, tests, and essays.

But what many kids don't realize is that there are countries where the kids don't even have a school to go to. Those kids have no chance to receive an education. So, while kids in Winchester and Woburn, Stoneham and Tewksbury, Wakefield and Wilmington complain about getting up early for another boring day of school, they can take solace in the fact they have a chance to receive an education and to better themselves.

It's not the same for kids in Honduras. The country is the poorest in the Americas and has an illiteracy rate of 25 percent, an unemployment rate of 30 percent and many people living below the poverty line. However, one local organization has for the past eight years been attempting to change all that. El Hogar Ministries, which started in 2001 in Massachusetts, is a continuation of a project started in 1979 in Honduras called the El Hogar de amor y esperanza (The home of love and hope). It grew out of necessity for a centralized office with a better infrastructure.

THIS IS THE HOME OF ONE OF THE STUDENTS (above). They all come from places like this. At left two boys at the Technical Institute in the Carpentry Workshop. At right, the older boy is Jose Alejandro Arteaga and the little boy is Santos Rosali Sevilla

The mission of the ministry is to provide kids in Honduras with a better life through education. It hopes to end poverty in the country through education, allowing the kids who graduate from the ministry to stay in the country and help grow it.

The original El Hogar Project started with five children and has since grown to include 250. It includes a school (grades 1 - high school) and orphanage in Honduras for children who come from extreme poverty. Up until three years ago, the project only included boys (there were more of them on the street), but according to Liz Kinchen, Executive Director of El Hogar Ministries, once it felt comfortable it started to take in five girls each year.

The organization and its 75 volunteers (teachers, doctors, drivers) provide the children a home, an education, medical care, and vocational training. It is located in the capital city, Tegucigalpa, which is approximately halfway between El Salvador and Nicaragua in the southern part of the country.

Culturally, Honduras is a much different place than America. Kinchen, who has been with the organization since 2001, believes Honduras is a relationship oriented culture (as opposed to the US which is a work oriented culture). And due to the culture, the ministry trains the boys and girls differently. Boys learn carpentry, farming and welding. The girls learn teaching and office management. Kinchen said that as the culture changes, so can the trades the boys and girls learn. But she pointed out they couldn't force anything.

El Hogar Ministries, located in Winchester, is a 501 (c)(3) meaning it's a non-profit organization where the money goes toward funding the project. Currently, it is trying to raise $30,000 in honor of the project's 30th anniversary. To do so, a 5K walk-a-thon is being held on Sunday, October 25, at 2 p.m. starting at the Winchester Common and winding through mainly residential streets.

Kinchen said over 100 people have already signed up. If you are interested, you can go to elhogar.org. You can also show up on the day of the walk with a check or cash for a donation. Kinchen pointed out the $30,000 goal was ambitious, but did say $6-7,000 had already been raised.

Whatever amount is raised will go toward feeding the children. The organization does not want to reduce the

by Paul Feely

"WHERE THE WILD THINGS ARE"

"WHERE THE WILD THINGS ARE" is based on a children's book written by Maurice Sendak. It is a fantastic exploration into childhood imagination. It is also certain to be a classic young and old can watch again and again.

"WHERE THE WILD THINGS ARE"
GRADE: ****

Just like the classic children's book it is based on, "Where the Wild Things Are" is a fantastic exploration into childhood imagination, and well-worth the effort put into creating it.

Creating a movie version of a children's classic that has very little text and is heavy with illustrations that still manages to capture the spirit of the writing isn't easy. But director Spike Jonze and co-writer David Eggers have done just that, expertly bringing author Maurice Sendak's world to life.

It is a world created by the emotions of a young boy who feels ignored, alone and persecuted. The creatures he meets in his land, the 'Wild Things' of the title and the favorite part of the book for most, are brought to life through the artistry of the designers at the Jim Henson Company, though CGI was used mostly to animate the creatures' facial expressions, so their interactions with young Max come across in a much more realistic manner.

"Where the Wild Things Are" contains hints of danger and a few scary moments, and the overall message of the film, which touches upon how difficult and scary childhood can be for some, especially those kids who feel 'different' from others, may be lost on the youngest of kids.

Young Max Records makes his debut as the sensitive Max who learns that being the head of a family is no easy chore.

The film features the vocal talents of longstanding actors who who portray his new friends: James Gandolfini as the sensitive Carol, Lauren Ambrose as KW, Chris Cooper as Douglas, Catherine O'Hara as Judith, Forest Whitaker as Ira and Paul Dano as Alexander.

The film is a bit sad and melancholy, but not too much so, and those moments pass quickly without bogging the overall presentation down.

"Where the Wild Things Are," like the book its based on, is an instant classic, a movie that you can watch again and again. It will likely generate conversations between parents and kids long after the film has ended.

"COUPLES RETREAT"
GRADE: **

There's a message about marriage buried deep inside the latest Vince Vaughn-Jon Favreau piece, but a lot of the jokes fall flat in 'Couples Retreat', the directorial debut of Vaughn buddy and collaborator Peter Billingsley (that's right, 'Ralphie' from 'A Christmas Story' is all grown up and behind the camera now).

The film starts off with Jason Bateman and Kristen Bell playing a high-strung couple who are having marital problems. They come to their friends with hopes of saving their union by going to an island paradise called Eden for a fun vacation and some couples bonding activities, such as therapy sessions, massages and kayaking, selling the idea in a very impressive PowerPoint presentation.

With eight stars, character development could have been superficial or the roles forgettable; thankfully, however, the majority of characters are well-rounded.

Vaughn plays Dave, a character who is still madly in love with his wife, Ronnie (Malin Akerman), and devoted father and friend. He's the most influential of the group of friends so once he's on board with the trip, the others decide to go along as well.

Another couple consists of Joey (Favreau) and Lucy (Kristin Davis), who have all but given up on their marriage and are largely just staying together until their daughter goes off to college. The last twosome includes Shane, who is still heartbroken over his divorce, and his 20-year-old rebound girlfriend, Trudy.

Filmed largely in Bora Bora, Tahiti, French Polynesia, the film's scenery is spectacular, with deep blue water, lush trees and white sand. Billingsley has a knack for comedic pacing and lets the scenes that deliver funny visuals, such as the couples' yoga class that features inappropriate touching and groping, develop.

The key factor with any ensemble comedy is that all of the characters are entertaining enough on their own to carry their scenes, and that you actually care about them a bit.

There's a message in there somewhere about fighting to make marriage work despite the bumps in the long and winding road, and the comedic moments keep you laughing as well.

"CAPITALISM: A LOVE STORY"
GRADE: ***

Does America really need to hear whatever director Michael Moore is yelling through his bullhorn this time?

After previously taking on America's gun culture (Bowling for Columbine), the Bush administration (Fahrenheit 9/11), and America's healthcare crisis (Sicko), this time he presents his take on what caused the financial crisis in 2008.

"Capitalism: A Love Story" finds Moore criticizing the government bailout of privately held businesses.

And do we need to hear what he has to say? Turns out, if you listen, you may just agree with him. He's angry about what has gone on in recent years, and he's not alone.

Moore has been pulling this schtick for years now, where he stages a grandiose demonstration outside some corporate headquarters building, demanding to speak to the CEO, but all that ever gets on film is an encounter with a guard at the door.

But 'Capitalism' works well, in spite of itself at times (the story is all over the place - segments about the sub-prime mortgage meltdown and a guy who is making a fortune selling foreclosed homes, and the horrifying bit about companies that take out life insurance policies on their employees, so it can collect if they die).

With his dad Moore heads to the spark-plug plant where his father spent his days, which is now a debris-covered field. And he repeatedly points out that 1 percent of the population owns 99 percent of the wealth, making a sound argument in the process that the country as a whole was shafted by the recent bank bailouts (though the fact that President Barack Obama escapes any criticism at all does call into question his impartiality to a degree.)

You may not like his methods, but 'Capitalism' is coming out at precisely the right moment - as people start to look around and realize that things aren't getting any better any time soon, and start wondering why.

Of course, there is some irony in the fact that he wants you to buy a ticket to see his film, thereby allowing him to make a living - capitalism at its best and most basic.

"SURROGATES"
GRADE: **

'Surrogates', the new Bruce Willis movie that was partially filmed in Woburn and various locations around Boston, is an entertaining thriller that explores the world of science fiction while warning of the pitfalls of falling too deep in love with technology.

In the film, two FBI

BUNCO Night Saturday at Longwood Place

Reading Rotarian Brian Crosby will head up a BUNCO Night once again on Saturday, October 24th at Longwood Place Reading beginning at 6:30 pm. The general public is cordially invited to attend.

As usual, pizza and salad will be served as will desserts and the game begins at approximately 7:30.

There will be a cash bar and the price for the evening is $30 per person. If you haven't played before, it is pretty simple and Brian will go over the rules prior to the event.

Persons will find themselves moving from table to table throughout the evening, that is unless you win every game, which you won't.

At the end there is a pretty good cash prize for the winner and the Reading Rotary also walks away with some cash for its worthwhile projects.

It is always well attended and is easy to get to Longwood Place at 75 Pearl Street, Reading off of Salem St. (Rte 129).

About the Towns by Phyllis Nissen

AIMING HIGH, REACHING HIGHER

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

MISTRUST IN THE NUMBERS (NORTH READING)

"There are 17,000 people living in North Reading?," notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"The town had a 25 percent rate of growth from 2007 to 2008?"

"Town Clerk Barbara Stats doesn't think so. Neither do the Board of Selectmen."

"Neither, frankly, does anyone else who actually lives here."

"And so the Selectmen voted to initiate an informal challenge to U.S. Census Bureau population estimates for North Reading that claim the town had a 24.9 percent population growth from 2007 to 2008, a 'Boomtown' growth spurt that would make Las Vegas proud."

"According to the state, in addition to the federal census conducted every 10 years, the Census Bureau provides annual population estimate updates based on how many building permits a city or town issues.

"This 2008 Census Bureau estimate for North Reading puts the town's population at 17,272, up 3,300 from the Census Bureau's own estimate for 2007. North Reading's own annual town census for 2008 puts the population at 14,518."

"Somewhere along the line, between 2007 and 2008, we had population explosion and grew 24 percent," according to the Census Bureau, Stats explained to the Selectmen. "Of course, we all know this didn't happen."

"The most likely cause for the discrepancy - and everyone's just guessing here because no one knows for sure - is that by mistake, the 406 building permits issued for Edgewater Place, the apartment development built at the former J.T. Berry site, were entered into the Census Bureau database multiple times...."

BOOSTER SHOTS IN STONEHAM

"Stoneham High athletic director Dave Pignone talked about it as a potential item on the agenda last summer, but this summer/fall the Stoneham High tennis courts are finally getting a much-needed facelift," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"The faded paint, rusty chain link fencing and cracks in the tennis court surfaces were badly in need of repair over the last handful of years, and the Stoneham High Booster Club will opt to pour $20,000 into refacing and resurfacing the eight tennis courts to the left of the long driveway up to the high school."

"The tennis courts are one of the first things you see when you're driving up on the high school campus, and they've been something of an eyesore for the last few years," said Stoneham High athletic director Dave Pignone. "This is something that we've been greasing the wheels of progress to get done, and we're so happy that the Booster Club really stepped up with the funds during such tough times."

"The courts get plenty of usage by people during the evenings and in the summer-time above and beyond the boys and girls high school teams during the spring, and the Booster Club made the sensible, appropriate decision to pour some money into the courts at a meeting last month...."

ANOTHER BOOST, IN WAKEFIELD

"This fall, the Melrose and Wakefield Health Departments, acting through the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, has been offering the Shingles Vaccine for residents whose insurance does not cover the cost of the vaccine," notes the Wakefield edition of the edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The vaccine is for people sixty years and older. Shingles, also called zoster, is a painful skin rash (often with blisters) caused by the same virus that causes chicken pox. One in five people with shingles will continue to experience severe pain even after the rash heals. This condition, called post-herpetic neuralgia, is more likely to occur if the person with shingles is over age sixty."

"Shingles is more common and more serious in older adults. Ask your healthcare provider if the shingles vaccine is for you."

"If you find that your insurance does not cover the cost of the vaccine, call the Melrose or Wakefield Health Department and add your name and contact information to our shingles vaccine list."

"The numbers are as follows: Melrose Health Department 781-979-4129 & Wakefield Board of Health 781-246-6375. If you would like more information about the vaccine, visit the Center for Disease Control website at www.cdc.gov/vaccines or call 1-800-CDC-INFO (1-800-232-4636)."

Are you stressed just thinking about the holidays? In these difficult economic times, the holidays may be particularly challenging. Holidays can be bittersweet, bringing up unresolved family issues, loss and memories of the past, worries about money, and unrealistic expectations. Learn to how to manage holiday stress, make better choices, and appreciate the "true" gifts you have to offer.

utter the line, "you look terrible". As is the style in a Willis action movie, he looks even more battered and bruised by film's end after causing the customary mayhem.

Even though the plot is wrapped up a little too neatly in the end, the film contains enough stylish visuals and energy to guarantee it's never dull.

"THE INFORMANT"

GRADE: ***

Matt Damon excels as "The Informant!", the title character in director Steven Soderbergh's newest film.

Soderbergh's film may bill itself as a comedy, but it's really a character study, and what a character Damon plays.

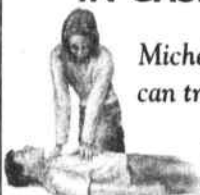

Based on a non-fiction book, Damon stars as Mark Whitacre, an overweight, hairpatch-wearing top-level executive for Archer Daniels Midland in the early 1990s, right before the proverbial dung hit the fan blades. He becomes aware of and becomes a key part in international price-fixing for the nutrient lysine, then becomes an informant for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

agents (played by and Radha Mitchell) investigate the mysterious murder of a college student linked to the man who helped create a high-tech surrogate phenomenon that allows people to purchase unflawed robotic versions of themselves - fit, good looking remotely controlled machines that ultimately assume their life roles - enabling people to experience life vicariously from the comfort and safety of their own homes.

The murder spawns a quest for answers, because in a world of characters and costumes, who's real and who can you trust?

The film paints a pretty future, at least on the facade, vfull of stylistic colors and shapes, but humans are caged in their own homes (of their own volition), experiencing life through robots (the surrogates of the title).

The film has a lot of fun with Willis' character - he looks very waxy at the start, but this is just his surrogate. The real Willis emerges later, bald and grizzled, prompting one character to

*MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

Who was the first player in NBA history to miss 5,000 free throws during his career?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

Senior Haley Catarius (Marshfield, MA) placed 69th to lead the UMass Lowell women's cross country team to 21st place at the New England Championship Saturday afternoon at Franklin Park.

UMass Lowell scored 645 points (69, 47, 113, 177, 189 - 197, 228) despite missing three of its top runners in juniors Lyra Clark (Nashua, NH) and Patricia Brice (Chelmsford, MA) and sophomore Katelyn Allen (Marshfield, MA).

Brown University won the team title with 130 points while Boston College placed second with 170. Dartmouth (201), MIT (217) and the University of New Hampshire (225) rounded out the top five.

The field drew 327 runners representing 49 Division I, II and III teams.

Catarius, who led a lineup of four freshmen, one sophomore and one junior, ran the 5K course in 19 minutes, 7 seconds while freshman Kelly Walton (Nahant, MA) placed 97th in 19:25.

JUNIOR SARAH BONOMO (TEWKSBURY, MA) placed 113th in 19:36 while freshman Mary Hazen (Framingham, MA) finished 177th in 20:17; and freshman NICOLE SKOTZ (TEWKSBURY, MA) 189th in 20:24 to complete UMass Lowell's scoring effort.

Sophomore Ivory Farren (Tyngsboro, MA) placed 197th in 20:32 and freshman

Gina Butler (Dracut, MA) took 228th in 20:58.

"Without Lyra, Tricia and Katelyn, this result says a lot about our young kids," said UML head coach Gary Gardner. "Haley and Kelly ran fantastic and Sarah ran very well too."

Corey Conner of the University of Maine won the individual title with a time of 17:36.

JUNIOR FORWARD SAMMY MACY (TEWKSBURY, MA) and midfielder Jaime Hadley (Chelmsford, MA) were named Northeast-10 Player of the Week and Defensive Player of the Week, respectively, after helping the No. 5 River Hawks to a 2-0 week, with 5-1 wins over both American International and Saint Michael's.

Macy finished the week with four goals and an assist for nine points over the two-game stretch. She scored a natural hat trick in Wednesday's road win at AIC, tallying the River Hawks first three goals of the game. She scored once and added an assist in the home contest against Saint Michael's on Saturday afternoon. Macy tallied 16 shots on the week and notched the game-winner in each of the victories.

Macy's 7.07 shots per game, 3.00 points per game and 1.29 goals per game rank her atop the NE-10. Her six game-winners this season put her at second place in the conference.

This is the second time Macy has earned the NE-10 Player of the Week this season, her last coming on Aug. 31 after her efforts during the opening weekend of play.

UMass Lowell is currently allowing an average of 1.36 goals per game, ranked third in the conference.

The River Hawks improved to 12-2 on the year with a 4-1 mark in conference play and will return to action with an NE-10 game on Tuesday at home, when they take on the No. 4 Stonehill Skyhawks at 7:00 p.m.

WESTFIELD STATE COLLEGE HAS NAMED WOBURN NATIVE BOB MIELE as its new men's varsity ice hockey head coach.

Miele, the Owls' assistant coach for the past two years, replaces Jerry Keefe, who last month accepted a position as the top assistant hockey coach at Brown University.

"I am pleased to name Bob Miele as our men's ice hockey coach," said Westfield State athletics director Richard Lenfest. "Bob has an outstanding hockey pedigree and brings continuity, integrity, a strong work ethic, and the desire to lead our program into the newly formed MAS-CAC (Massachusetts State College Athletics Conference)."

"Bob competed at the highest level in Division III while attending Amherst College," Lenfest added. "I look forward to him instilling the same qualities in our student-athletes that translate into success on and off the ice."

Miele's position is full-time at Westfield. In addition to his coaching duties, he is also the manager of athletic facilities.

The West Springfield resident was a key component of the Owls' success during their first year of varsity hockey after a 20-year hiatus when they posted an 11-9-4 record and qualified for the ECAC Tournament during the 2008-2009 season.

"This is a great opportunity for me and I am going to make the most of it," said Miele. "I've worked with these guys for nearly two years and I am honored to be their coach. My main goal is to keep the program growing."

Miele attended high school at the perennial hockey powerhouse Belmont Hill School ('96). As a senior he was the team leader in goals, Independent School All-League, an HNIB All-Scholastic, and was selected to the Prep/Private Senior All-Star game.

The Woburn native took a post-graduate year at The Hill School ('97), and also played a year for the Boston Junior Bulldogs where he was a 50-goal scorer.

Miele attended Amherst College ('02) where he won ECAC East/NESCAC Rookie of The Year honors. As a sophomore he led the team in points and was the Codfish Bowl MVP.

School From S-1

In fact, the group hopes to slowly grow the ministry. Kinchen said the plans are to grow the girls program and build up a small financial cushion.

It all started as the vision of Victor Lognes, the Rev. Hugo Pina, Val and Connie de Beausset, and the Rev. Bob and Margi Miller. According to the website (elhogar.org), they wanted to "break the cycle of poverty and crime by providing street boys a home and education to help them be useful, productive and responsible citizens of Honduras. With initial funds from The Methodist Fund for Human Need and support from the Episcopal Church, five boys from different parts of the Honduran capital, Tegucigalpa, came to live at El Hogar. There they received love and support; including clothing, good nutrition, and health care, while receiving up to a sixth grade education

In his junior year at Amherst, Miele won National Player of the Week honors and was voted All-NESCAC second team. Miele eclipsed the 100-point mark as a senior, finishing with 55 goals and 50 assists for 105 points in 95 games. He was also selected to the ECAC/NESCAC/SUNYAC Senior All-Star game.

After graduating from

Amherst, Miele attended training camps and played in exhibition seasons with the Missouri River Otters (UHL), Indianapolis Ice (CHL), and Dayton Bombers (ECHL). He also played a year of Senior A for the Texarkana Bandits, where he averaged over a point a game.

in a Christian environment." Kinchen mentioned that the kids are so malnourished most don't even know what a toothbrush is. Some have one parent and some are orphans. Some, though rarely, have two parents. Either way, most of the kids are not taken care of properly and have no other resources available to them. Without organizations such as El Hogar, she said, the boys would live on the street in gangs and the girls would become prostitutes.

Kinchen makes the trip to Honduras a couple times a year. She last went in March and will go again this November.

The Honduran Government doesn't supply the organization with any funds, however, Kinchen said the country as a whole is very supportive of the ministry. She mentioned there's a waiting list for kids trying to get in. She said the US Embassy visits from time to time.

Although it's called El Hogar Ministries and all the volunteers are from North America, the kids aren't forced to learn about religion or learn English. Kinchen talked about teaching the kids English, while the kids help the volunteers with their Spanish.

Unfortunately, not every kid makes it into the program. Some cannot handle the adjustment to a structured schedule with rules and responsibility. Those kids aren't fit for the program, but the ones who are recognize the opportunity and are grateful.

In this tough economy, whether the program can grow and take in more students is anybody's guess. Regardless, El Hogar Ministries is attempting to change Honduras one child at a time.

A TOUCH OF IRELAND AT LINDEN TREE

The Linden Tree Coffeehouse is very pleased to announce the return to Wakefield of two wonderfully talented singers, Aoife Clancy and Robbie O'Connell.

These cousins were born in Ireland to the famous Clancy Brothers family. This special concert is on Saturday, October 24 at the Unitarian-Universalist Church, 326 Main Street, Wakefield at 8 p.m.

Either performer on stage is outstanding. Having both Aoife and Robbie together in concert guarantees an amazing evening. Six years ago, at the suggestion of Liz Freeman, Linden Tree's coordinator, the Clancy cousins did the first of their Celtic Cousins at a coffeehouses show. In 2008, the show was a sell-out. So for Linden Tree's 25th season highlighting "Some of Your Favorite Folks" it was a natural to have them return.

Tickets will be $20 at the door. To reserve advance tickets, mail a check made out to Linden Tree Coffeehouse to Freeman, 8 Dexters, Lane, Wakefield, Ma. 01880.

UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST AUCTION NOVEMBER 14

INVITATION TO SING WITH THE POPS

The Merrimack Valley Chorus will host a Performance Opportunity Program for four consecutive Thursdays beginning October 29 from 6:45 to 9 p.m. at the Wilmington Arts Council Building on Route 62 in Wilmington.

Women and girls of any age are invited to learn four holiday songs in 4 part a cappella harmony, then perform with the group at the Wilmington Congregational Church on November 30, and again in the chorus's annual show in Andover on December 6.

Participants in the POP program will learn White Christmas, Winter Wonderland, a carol medley combining It Came Upon a Midnight Clear and Silent Night, and It's the Most Wonderful time of the Year. No prior singing experience is necessary, and there is no audition involved. Those who attend will be voice placed depending on how high or low they sing.

The Merrimack Valley Choruses, a chapter of Sweet Adelines International, numbers 50 women from over 20 communities in Greater Boston and southern New Hampshire.

The chorus holds weekly open rehearsals on Thursday at the Wilmington Arts Council Building, 219 Middlesex Ave., (Rte 62) in Wilmington.

you step into an area that faces the stairway and coat closet.

On the right is a parlor with double doors that open into a room that could be furnished as either a den or dining room. With these doors standing open, the two rooms become one bright living area, windowed at both the front and back. The rear windows are actually a set of French doors that provide access to the backyard.

Everyone loves to hang out in the kitchen, and this plan provides the space to do it without crowding the cooks. Standing at the range, you look across the eating bar into a large open space that could be furnished with a casual dining table, plus a couch or a couple easy chairs.

A door here provides direct access to the garage. This feature will be especially appreciated when unloading groceries on dark, rainy or snowy days and nights.

Laundry appliances are close by but out of sight, opposite the powder room in a hallway that connects the dining room and kitchen.

The Bailey's master suite is small, but has a long closet and a private bathroom with an oversize shower. Secondary bedrooms share a third bathroom.

This week's Sampler: The Bailey

Bailey's porch perfect place to sit and swing

Four sets of slender posts support the front edge of the Bailey's roof, creating an inviting full-width porch. These features, plus the multipaned upper window sashes, give a Craftsman-style flavor to this compact contemporary two-story plan. The front facade is so symmetrical that an old-fashioned porch swing could be hung at either end.

Family gathering spaces are on the first floor and bedrooms are upstairs. Entering, Sampler to page S-7
